

What's going on at The Library

By Christine Renaud

A great time was had by all during March Break when the Library held its Art & Ukulele March Break Camp at the Milford Town Hall. We extend our thanks to the South Marysburgh Recreation Board for the use of the hall.

Great time of fun and learning as the library hosted a Ukulele and Art Camp at Milford Town Hall

The library will be taking part, as in the past, with Easter Bonnet making at the Milford branch before the Milford Easter Parade on Saturday, April 4th. Whitney will be on hand with all the trimmings needed to create something spring-like and festive! Please bring your own bonnet or hat to decorate. Bonnet making will take place from 10:00 to 10:45 a.m.

As you may have seen if you have been in the library lately, the Seed Library has been moved to the Milford branch from its original location in Picton.

The Seed Library was started at least a year ago and is a place to pick up free seeds. Recently, we realized the collection was somewhat neglected in Picton and in need of a bit of reorganizing and support. Members of the Seedy Saturday organizing group answered the call and Michella Kaduk has since created a display in the branch and sorted the seeds. These are available to "check out" by anyone with a library card. You do not have to return the seeds, of course, but we encourage people to save seeds, specifically open pollinated, heritage and organic seeds, and to consider donating some back to the Seed Library.

If you would like to learn more about seed saving, permaculture, organic growing and composting, please let me know. Those of us in the Seedy Saturday group have some expertise – though my expertise is somewhat limited to connecting people to those who are experts! – so do let me know if you have questions. The library is also hoping to present talks on related subjects in the near future.

Finally, The Seedy Saturday group also recently made a donation of over $300 in new gardening and seed saving books. These are currently being processed by the library to add to our collection and a few other titles are forthcoming. I will provide titles and descriptions of all of these in the next issue of The Mirror.

As always, we appreciate your support of the library and look forward to seeing you in the branch sometime soon!
