

The South Marysburgh Mirror

Published for and about local people and events

Thank You

I want to thank the Fair Board and the Directors for all their hard work starting in April to plan another successful Milford Fair. Many thanks to the volunteers who started setting up the Wednesday before the Fair and cleaned up on Sunday and Monday as well as all those volunteers who helped on Saturday to make sure that Fair day ran smoothly and successfully.

There are some people who, year after year look after details that most people take for granted. Tim York and his son Scott move the bleachers and create our stage. Randy York puts up the speaker for the PA and the flags on the front of the Shed. Joel Walker hooks up a hot water tank for the Food Booth and Bill Creasy brings in a trailer to store all the garbage until it can be taken to the dump. Glendon Walker and the South Marysburgh Fire Department look after road closures for the parade and the First Aid station during the Fair. S/sgt Bernie Gaw and the OPP clear the way for the parade route and the staff at The County's Parks, Recreation and Culture Department that make sure we have garbage and recycling bins and the permits that are required.

A big Thank You to all the citizens and businesses in South Marysburgh and Picton who so generously donated prize money and gifts for The Fair.

Finally, Thank you to all those who took part in the parade and attended the Fair. Without you, all our work would have been in vain.

We look forward to next year when we will be cele-

Continued on page 2

Smoke...But Where's the Fire? South Marysburgh Fire Department to the Rescue

Sometimes the smell of burning in your house is nothing to worry about: the toast got a bit singed; you've just opened the woodstove to put more logs in; your neighbours are burning brush and you didn't get the windows closed in time. But when there's no good reason for it, the smell of burning is terrifying.

Frank noticed it first that Sunday morning last spring. It seemed to be in just one part of the house, in the hallway right outside our bedroom door and in the bedroom itself. Hearts pounding but hoping to find a benign explanation, we raced through the house looking for the source, but found nothing. We dashed outside to sniff the air, but it was fine.

Then we remembered the mouse. We had heard one in the house the last couple of days, but the wily creature had managed to eat all the peanut butter on the traps without getting caught. Could it have been nibbling electrical wires, too?

We were really frightened by this time. The burning smell was getting stronger and stronger, and we couldn't find the cause. We took the next logical step: we phoned 911.

Continued on page 4

Mummers Reviving Anne of Green Gables

The mummers are going to be presenting once again the popular show Anne of Green Gables this fall.

It has been 10 years since it was last played to enthusiastic audiences at Mount Tabor

Tickets are $15.00 and are on sale at all the usual ticket sellers and now also at the Rossmore Stop and the Milford fair.

Show dates are October 26th, 27th, 28th and November 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

Inside this Issue...

● Magic in a Beer Can	5
● Fair	7
● Druella Acantha Malvina	11
● Living in the Moment	13
● Life in the Past	18
● The Last Word	20