couldn't resist picking stones off his fields whenever opportunity permitted. She closed by telling reasons why we might be Canadians. Karen Guernsey lined up ten items used in sewing. I guess most of us are not sewers as we not only couldn't name them but we didn't even know their purpose. Karen is going to hold a seminar demonstrating their uses so we won't be so ignorant.

The ladies were reminded to mark Saturday March 29th on their calendars as we are having a bake table at Pat York's to celebrate Maple in the County (and also to raise money for our UCW). Prayer closed our meeting after which we enjoyed a heart healthy lunch provided by Irene Robb and Carolyn Barnes. Yumm, yumm. Brenda thanked the ladies on behalf of our group.

“Sludge Diet” debuts in the County

Sunday afternoons March 2 and 9, a coalition of farmers and other citizens will present the first public showings of Sludge Diet, a highly acclaimed documentary on the dangers of spreading sewage sludge on rural lands. Released in 2006, Sludge Diet has been nominated Notable Video of the Year by the American Library Association.

Shot on location in Canada, the US, France, and Switzerland, the film explores the devastating impacts that the increasingly toxic stew of sludge can have on soil, water and human health. Strong farmer resistance has led to a national ban in Switzerland, and may soon accomplish the same in France. Sludge Diet features scientists, government officials, victims of sludge poisoning, as well as farmers and other citizens organizing to stop the land-spreading of sewage and industrial sludge.
