

Walking Tour and Statue Unveiling

Friday afternoon June 6th the students from Athol will be the first group to follow Milford's Bicentennial walking tour. Starting at Headlands Farm where the Mast Road reached the village boundary, the students will learn our early history as they follow the course that the trees were hauled to our one remaining mill. Wilbur Miller's team, pulling a period log wagon, will add an authentic element to the celebration.

When the group arrives at the Post Office, the new statue of the Milford Miller will be unveiled. Ice cream for the students is being provided by The Bean Counter and Pure County Bottled Water will have water bottles with the Milford 200 Bicentennial Logo for the walkers.

Additional walkers welcome or just come to the Post Office for the unveiling where the South Marysburgh students will join the tour.

NB: The events are expected to bring up to 1000 people to Milford over the weekend. That is bound to have some impact on our local traffic but road closures are minimal. They are called rolling road closures and effect any section of the course for about the same amount of time as a traffic light as the pack passes in between police escorts.

Look for more schedule details in next month's South Marysburgh Mirror.
