

Druella Acantha Malvina's Column

You're getting older when every move you make becomes a joint effort.

A police car pulls up in front of Grandma Bessie's house and Grandpa Morris gets out.

The polite policeman explains that this elderly gentleman said he was lost in the park...and couldn't find his way home.

"Oh, Morris," said Grandma, "you've been going to that park for over 30 years! So how could you get lost?"

Leaning close to Grandma so the policeman couldn't hear, Morris whispered, "I wasn't lost. I was just too tired to walk home."

For the medical laymen - definitions of medical terms

Antibody - against everyone

Barium - what you do when CPR fails

Botulism - tendency to make mistakes

Coma - a punctuation mark

Congenital - friendly

Enema - not a friend

Enteritis - a penchant for burglary

Fester - quicker

Fibrillate - to tell lies

Genes - blue denim slacks

Genital - non-Jewish

Grippe - what you do to a suitcase

Pathological - a reasonable way to go

Paralyze - two far-fetched stories

The farmer's son was returning from the market with the crate of chickens his father had entrusted to him, when suddenly the box fell and broke open.

Chickens scurried in all directions but the determined boy scoured the neighbourhood scooping up the wayward birds. Hoping he had them all, the boy reluctantly returned home.

"Pa, the chickens got loose," the boy confessed sadly, "but I managed to find all 12 of them."

"You did real good, son," the farmer beamed. "You left with seven."
