

Curtsy For A Queen

Doris M. Morris, extreme right, wife of city clerk D. B. Morris who is at her side, executes a half curtsy on being introduced to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth by Mayor Walter Assef at City Hall Tuesday. The ceremony took place on the walkway leading up to City Hall. In addition each alderman and his spouse were formally presented to Their Royal Highnesses together with city co-ordinator E. C. Reid. The Queen wore a street-length summer print dress in mauve and green with full pleated bottom and matching green hat. Her shoes and purse were black. During the presentations, the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh moved down the line of presentees, with Mayor Assef taking responsibility for introducing each guest.

Staff Photo

Fainting Spell

Prime Minister Trudeau in Prince Edward I expresses concern and aids Sunday. Queen Elizabeth his wife Margaret after she Prince Philip of suffered a fainting spell celebrations. —CP Wire

IN BRIGHT SUNSHINE, QUEEN AND PRINCE LEAVE TAIT'S HOUSE DURING FORT TOUR