

Notes - Exhibit Number Five

1. The old photograph is mounted on a heavy cardboard photographic mount. However, there is no name on the back of the photographic mount as was the case of other J. Isbester's C.P.R. Contract photographs.
2. On the back of the heavy cardboard photographic mount on which the old photograph is mounted, handwritten in ink, is 1884. As in the case of James Isbester Exhibit Number Two Volume 3 the 1884 is undoubtedly the year in which the old photograph was taken.
3. Other than being on J. Isbester's C.P.R. Contract the location of the site where the old photograph was taken is not identified.
