Rev. Tom Morikawa

Someone has said that we live in a day of guided missiles and misguided men. Man knows how to guide a rocket to the moon but he does not know how to direct himself to peace among men. Regardless of race, nation or civilization, man has known bloodshed and warfare. And that conflict can be between nations or within a nation, between races or within a race, between families or within a family, between individuals or within an individual. But God loved us as individuals and peoples so much that He sent His Son, Jesus Christ, to guide our lives into a better way - a better way to live with our fellowmen; a better way to live as persons - a way that leads to peace and joy to eternal life.

More important than guided rockets, we need to learn to be guided by our Heavenly Father. He only waits for the nations, for you and me, to be willing to be guided.

Prayer of Confession

God, our Father, we admit that we have failed to be the men and women you meant us to be. When duty has called we have shirked it, and we have defended ourselves with excuses.

We are sorry for our failure, which has hurt ourselves, and we resolve to put right what we can put right. As for those mistakes which can not be changed, we surrender them to you. Release us from their burden, so that we can step into the future unafraid knowing that, even if we fail, failure does not put us out of reach of your help, which comes to us through Jesus Christ our Lord.

The pessimist says: "My cup is half empty." The optimist says: "My cup is half full." The Christian says: "My cup runneth over."
