

NEW CREDIT NEWSAlterations to New Credit Factory

The factory building (New Credit Council House) at New Credit may be altered slightly at the front to allow the truck which delivers the raw materials and takes away the finished products to pull up closer to the building and unload easier.

A ramp or paved driveway may be built if the council approves with all expenses being paid by the Van Dresser Co.

The ladies had a long weekend lay-off because of alterations to the machines at the main factory in Waterloo. They expect to be back at work by Tuesday or Wed.

Day Dreaming at Night

by Brian Brant, Grade 4.

I day-dream at night. This one night I thought I was going to be a millionaire but I was thinking that I wouldn't be happy because I would have too much money. But the next night I thought I was going to be a doctor and that's what I'm going to be.

An Old Indian Magazine

3 copies of an old magazine called The Indian Magazine, published in June 1895, August 1896, and January 1896 were read recently by your reporter. The magazine was published at Brantford by the hereditary chiefs council and was "A record of important events on the Six Nations Reservation."

It was a monthly magazine with a brown cover and at first it cost 35¢ per year but by 1896 the price had risen to the exorbitant price of 50¢ per year!

Some prices from the magazine showed lamps with burner, chimney and wick only 14¢, tumblers, fancy cut glass, 6 for 20¢, dish pans 10¢, 25 needles for 1¢.

Boys suits sold from $1.25, men's suits from $2.75. Indian root pills were 15¢ a box.

Those were the good old days!

Education for successful living ... which includes successful employment ... is the single most important gift we can bequeath our children. It is the single most severe punishment we can inflict upon them to deny access to the best tools of learning. They cannot fly like eagles on the wings of wrens.
