

Letters to Editor (continued)

"I am amazed at how the people are getting ahead and being more independent for themselves as they have been held down so long. I wish them all the luck in the world and keep up the good work."

sincerely (name withheld)

These letters are from readers in the Canadian West and the United States. Thank you again, kind friends, for your words of encouragement. Yes, we agree our Reserve is going ahead by leaps and bounds; "Providence helps those who help themselves" and every one is working hard - even the young folks. Remember when there were 3 or 4 going to high school and the Six Nations Council got the band out when one made an extra high mark? Well, today there are 380 Indian students from the reserve being bussed to Six high and technical schools in nearby towns and cities; and there are over 40 native teachers in the Reserve elementary schools. Now we could do with a High and Technical School right here on the Reserve. Ed.

Leather Crafts Class will start soon

The leather class will begin within a week or so. The number in the class will necessarily be limited. So if you're interested send in your name immediately to Mrs. Ruth Isaac, 445-2275.

Language Arts Workshop

On Monday afternoon, the teachers of the Six Nations Reserve attended a Language Arts Workshop at Ohsweken Central School. This workshop was run by Mr. Barton and Mr. Boothe from the Hamilton Board of Education. Their subjects for the day were Choral Speaking and activities concerning what to do with poetry in the classroom.

All the teachers participated in the activities. Especially Mrs. Brenda Davis who yelled at the top of her lungs "Whose got my shinny-bone!" Everyone had an enjoyable time and much was learned from these two gentlemen. Coffee and do-nuts were served during the course of the session.

Financial Report

A sketch of the financial report of the Minor Hockey League on the Six Nations Reserve is as follows:

The Recreation Commission of the Six Nations Council devoted $500 towards minor hockey on the reserve last August. They paid back $353 for Waterford and Hagersville arenas arrears from last year (ice time and referee's fees).

Average takes at the door $15 to $49. From this money referee's fees are paid. So far this year $351 has been paid out in referee fees. Sweaters were bought for the House League at a cost of $525.

Referee fees at Hagersville for the O.M.H.L. was $35. Hockey is sport but it isn't a money-making proposition until you make the N.H.L.

Treasurer - Norma Davis
