

THEY STROLLED THE LANES TOGETHER

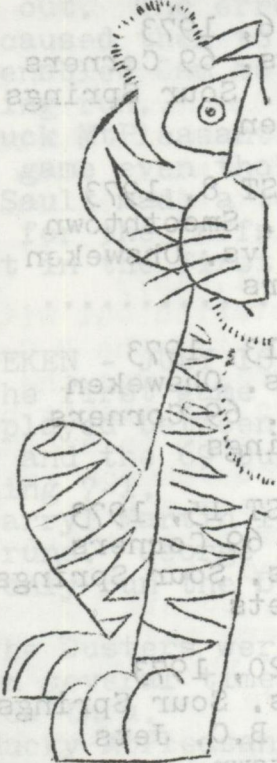

They strolled the lanes together,
The sky was studded with stars;
He walked her to the pasture gate
And lifted for her the bars.

She raised her brown eyes to him -
There was nothing between them now;
For he was the farmer's hired man,
And she a Jersey cow.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE?

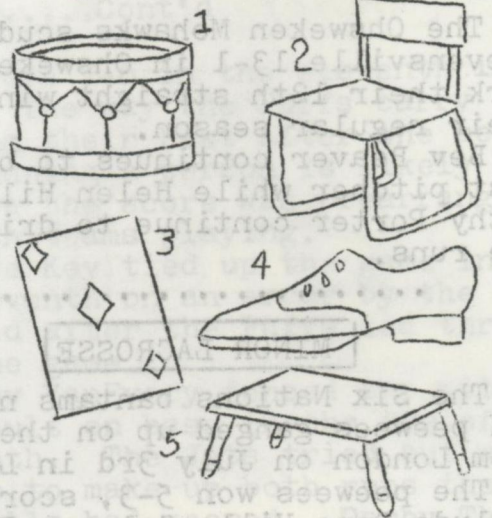

Cowbirds are the laziest birds in the world. They don't build their own nests. Instead, they lay their eggs in other birds' nests, sometimes dumping out the eggs that are already there. The nesting birds will hatch the cowbird eggs and raise the strange baby birds.

FINISH THE TIGER

When you have completed me, colour me in.

CHANGE THE WORD

1. Take a letter away and leave a pirate's drink.
2. Take a letter away and leave what grows on the head.
3. Take a letter away and leave a means of transport.
4. Take a letter away and leave a garden tool.
5. Take a letter away and leave a story.

WHO SAYS WHAT
MIAOW-QUACK-HOOT-GRUNT

