- NOTICE -

The Institute of Religious Iconography of the Groningen State University in the Netherlands is working on a project concerning the study of the religions of the North American Indians.

It is very difficult for them to get reliable, first-hand information, therefore they are requesting your help.

They are interested in any kind of documentation on the subject of modern American Indian religion, such as books, papers, articles, photographs, pamphlets, records, microfilms, etc.

They would also appreciate any suggestion about names and addresses of persons, institutions and the like that might be of help to their project. If there are costs, please advise.
