Noted Indian Graduate of Caledonia High School (continued)

After the war was over, a grateful U.S. Government bestowed a citation upon Dr. Anderson commending him for his services, his loyalty, his devotion to duty and for keeping the Secret. He was honoured at the University of Buffalo at a banquet.

With the war over, Arnold was now able to direct his attention to peaceful pursuits. He was assigned to Union Carbide Chemical Co. of Niagara Falls, N.Y. as Director of Research. He was named assistant manager in 1955 and manager in 1959. He later became Production Manager of the New Chemicals Factory group of Union Carbides with offices in New York City.

In this position Dr. Anderson was responsible for the market development of Union Carbide water soluble polymers. These polymers are widely used as thickeners, film formers, binders, dispersants and sizes. They are important ingredients in latex-based paints, cosmetics, adhesives, paper products and textile chemicals. They are widely used in building and related industries as water-retaining agents for concrete, plaster, wall-board etc.

While in Niagara Falls, N.Y. Arnold was active in the American Chemical Society, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Industrial Management Club, Niagara Club, Instrument Society of America, Messiah Lutheran Church of Lewiston (where he was Superintendent of Sunday School) Boy Scouts of America Council and Community Chest.

Dr. Anderson's compatriots on the Six Nations Reserve take great pride in his achievements and Caledonia High School is proud to have had a share in shaping his career.

Dr. Arnold C. Anderson is now World Co-ordinator of Union Carbides, and resides in suburban New York with his wife and two sons, when he isn't flying to other parts of the world.
