

Six Nations Council Meeting (continued)

That this Council accept the recommendation of the Six Nations Recreation Commission that Cecil Davis and Bill Montour be named to the Six Nations Recreation Commission to serve as members for a term of three years to replace John R. Burnham and Alex Ross Powless whose terms have expired. Carried.

That this Council authorize payment for the fire hydrants to the Six Nations Water Commission. Carried.

That this Council issue a Certificate of Merit to Clarence Jamieson at the next council meeting for services rendered in sports on the Six Nations Indian Reserve.

- Carried.

That this Council accept the offer of Harold W. Nethaway of Johnstown, New York, of a photograph of Johnson Hall depicting an Indian Council of Circa 1770 done by E. L. Henry in 1904 and upon receipt of this photograph that it be hung in some prominent place. Carried.

That since this Council has not received any comments on the fire works by-law that was sent to the merchants on the Reserve, that this Council advise the merchants that this by-law will be passed at the next Council meeting and that the merchants be advised to govern themselves accordingly. Carried.

There were the usual number of transfers of property and hydro applications approved. For lack of space, we print only the resolutions of interest to the Reserve as a whole.

On Min's Handicraft Shop

One of industrious self-employed women of the Six Nations Reserve is Min Jamieson of Min's Handicraft Shop in Ohsweken. March 13th edition of the Brantford Expositor carried a comprehensive article, with photo, on her shop which contains all authentic Indian Handicraft. Mrs. Jamieson makes a great deal of the handicraft herself and buys and retails for other Reserve handicrafters, such articles as wooden masks, canes, Indian dolls etc. Her shop is a tourists' paradise with the fine variety of Indian Handicraft artistically arranged on walls and counters. Although her shop opened only 4 years ago, Mrs. Jamieson has found it necessary to have an addition built and declares "I still need another addition for storage." Although leading a busy life with her shop, Min still finds time to engage in community work.
