Historical Reserch

"Let's Look Back" (by N.J.)

According to historical records of the past, dated June 1, 1911, the sum of $154,000 was advanced out of the Six Nations Indian annuities towards the improvement of the navigation of the Grand River, from which they have derived neither principal nor interest and that many choice pieces of land were taken from them (under the Navigation Act) at a low valuation, and converted into village sites for the sole benefit of said navigation. It is not probable further that for these concessions by the Six Nations Indians, the improvement of the Grand River would not have been undertaken and the county would have failed to attain their present progress and importance ??

Furthermore, it should be remembered that it was the trading with the Six Nations Indians which, in the first instance, had a large part of the establishment of this community.

Were the Six Nations Indians redressed for these losses would it not be possible for them to have a well equipped Lady Willingdon Hospital as well as an attractive home for the infirm? What has happened to Ottawa's Claims Commission? Let's have this claim and others settled before we "choose a path." (N.J.)

N.B. The Grand River Navigation Company was incorporated in 1832. The Six Nations Indians became involved to the extent of three-fourths of the stock.
