

The Bear, drawn by artist Tuck Johnson earlier this year, is one of the nine clan animals recognized by Six Nations Natives. It is respected for its qualities of power and intelligence. While much of his work reflects traditional Native themes, Mr. Johnson also enjoys sketching people and is inspired by a number of subject matters.