

Brian Thompson, Expositor Staff
Equipment leaves an island occupied by natives.

Natives claim a victory in dispute over island

By David Young
Expositor Staff

Jan 27

Protesters trying to stop a construction project through a Grand River island claimed a "moral victory" Wednesday.

Crews from the Kast Construction company removed their equipment from the island and replaced the top soil.