

Floyd and Ruby Montour charged in Brantford, again

By Erin Tully-Musser
BRANTFORD

Floyd and Ruby Montour, Six Nations elders, turned themselves into the Brantford police on Tuesday morning.

The elders are facing charges of mischief and disobeying a court order (the Brantford injunction) for their alleged participation in a work stoppage on Erie Avenue last week.

A work crew attempted to dig up a portion of
Continued on page 2

Ruby and Floyd Montour were in good spirits while entering the Brantford Police Station on Tuesday morning. The couple were turning themselves in on mischief and disobeying a court order charges so they could prevent a warrant being issued. The couple stayed in good spirits throughout the fingerprinting and mug shot process. (Photo by Erin Tully-Musser)