

'Mush-Hole' survivors launch $900 million suit

By Lynda Powless
Editor

A $900 million law suit filed on behalf of a group of "Mushhole Survivors" Monday is one of the largest law suits ever filed in Canada on behalf of former aboriginal residential school students.

A London, Ontario law firm filed the $900,000,000 statement of claim with Ontario Court, General Division, on behalf of survivors of the Mohawk Institute Residential School that was located at Six Nations.

In addition, a $600,000,000 suit has been filed on behalf of the parents, siblings, children and relatives of the students.

The suit also seeks individual assessments of damages for students who were sexually abused and aggravated damages in the amount of $150,000,000

(Continued on page 3)