

Our hearts are full of sympathy to those who have been bereaved. We trust that God in His mercy may uphold and sustain them in their loss.

Our people continue to feel the burden of the world-wide financial depression but they continue to sow in faith trusting that by and by they shall reap the harvest, if they faint not.

We pray that God in His goodness may yet manifest Himself to us and lighten our darkness with His glorious presence. Even so we shall continue on the way, believing that He will neither forget us nor forsake us but will sustain us even to the end. In this faith we go forward to the accomplishment of our tasks.
