The Ford Power Plant

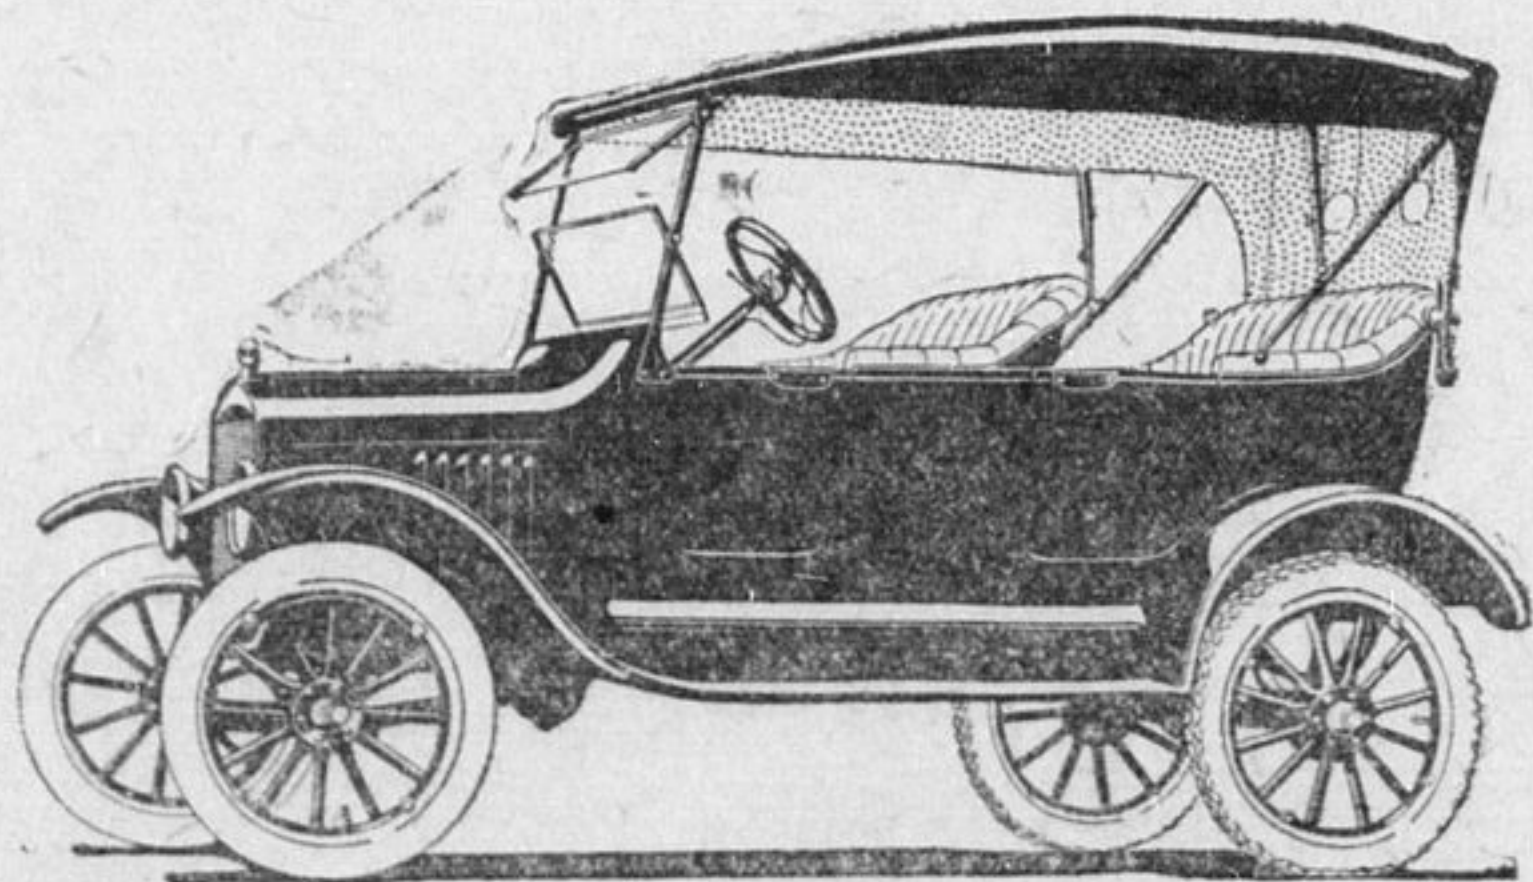

THE first model T Ford engine was made in 1908. It was the perfected development of Henry Ford's motor inventions dating back sixteen years to 1892 when he built his first little one-cylinder motor.

During that sixteen years Ford Cars were made in many models from little two-cylinder "chuggers" to big six-cylinder, high-priced cars.

But in 1908 the crystallized results of all those years of experience and study was the model T, the Ford power plant of today.

And since 1908, thirteen years of test under every condition of use in peace and war, in every nook and corner of the globe has shown not a single weakness nor a need of improvement, nor of additions to the power plant which drives half of all the cars on earth.

The wonderful durability and power of the Ford engine, its simplicity of operation and its economy in fuel and repairs, are reasons why the Ford car should be a good car for you to own.
