Hollinger Cost Win Over The Advance

The pen-pushers from the Cost Department of Hollinger Hill gave the pride of the Advance scribes a rude jolt on Monday evening, when they met at King's Bowling Alleys, by trimming them by 81 pins.

The Advance line-up were all confident of victory, having defeated the Cost Department last week by a handsome margin. However, on this occasion the Hollinger boys were bubbling over with that win staff, having dieted on strikes and spares ever since the former contest.

This leaves honors even, and so a third and deciding game has been arranged to bowl off the tie, and it is whispered that a supper will also be hung up as an added inducement the losers to pay for same. This feature should add zest to the next contest as both teams are declared to have a weakness for "good eats." Following is the score in detail:
