Teacher, to a roomful of pupils: "And just think! one of you may be president some day. All of you who would like to president, please rise." All rose except little Willie. "Well, Willie, what's the matter? Wouldn't you like to be president?" "Y-yes'm," stammered Willie, "but I ca-ca-can't." "Why not," asked teacher, astonished. "Because--because I'm a D-d-democrat," said Willie, bursting into tears.

Some real-estate dealers in British Columbia were accused of having victimized English and Scotch settlers by selling them (at long range) fruit ranches which were situated on the tops of mountains. It is said that the captain of a steamboat on Kootenay Lake once heard a great splash in the water. Looking over the rail, he spied the head of a man who was swimming toward his boat. He hailed him. "Do you know," said the swimmer, "this is the third time today that I've fallen off that bally old ranch of mine!"

Inspector Mayhew of the post-office department, New York, has been in Porcupine lately inspecting the various properties with a view to stopping the false reports that are sent in circulars through the post concerning the prospects of various mines, bogus and otherwise, and addressed to the outside public.

S. J. Billings, the banker and broker, of Batavia, New York, H. Crankshaw and P. W. McCaffrey, engineer, have been inspecting the Hudson Bay property in Shaw Township this week.

On Friday, the 26th inst., at the Court House at Porcupine before Recorder Gauthier, H. Morrow, clerk at the Mulligan House, was summoned for assaulting Wm. Gurrill by kicking him on the head and otherwise beating him. Evidence against the defendant was given by James Rowe and William Bertrand. Mr. Gauthier, after severely admonishing the defendant and cautioning him as to his future conduct ordered him to pay $1 fine and costs and to pay the man Gurrill's doctor's fees.

Friday is civic holiday in Porcupine. Reeve Walsh, accompanied by Councillor Tom King, Councillor Dr. McInnis, Geo. Preston, Councillor T. Foster, Chas. Maginnis and several other prominent townsmen will meet Mr. N. W. Rowell at Rosedale and escort him to the ball grounds, where a grand baseball tournament is to be played for a prize of $50 in gold for the winning team. Mr. Rowell has consented to pitch the first ball in the second game and everybody is endeavoring to make this a great gala day.

Great inconvenience has been felt here by the Catholic community at the absence of a priest. There has been no service of any sort held in the Catholic church for the last two weeks. The Rev. Father Pelletier has been away for that period and although a priest from North Cobalt was supposed to attend and take charge up to the present no one has arrived. A wedding which was supposed to take place here had to be transferred to Cochrane. Several parents are also waiting to have their children baptized. Father O'Gorman of Haileybury has been communicated with, but up to the time of writing no reply has been received.

It is time the Whitney Council got busy and did something to abate the nuisance of straying horses and untagged dogs. The night is made hideous with the yelping and barking of a number of unclaimed animals running at large. Then again it is dangerous for horses to be allowed to wander at liberty in all parts of the town, especially where there are a number of woman and children. The dogs when they see a horse straying make after it and attempt to bite its heels, thereby scaring the horse and causing it to stampede. Several persons have had narrow escapes from the frightened animals, but it seems that until some one gets hurt no notice will be taken of the matter. It is a menace to the lives of the women and children and something should be done. It is a pity the straying animals are not seized and impounded and the owner made to pay the expenses.

What is believed to be an original and at the same time unique club or society was instituted in Porcupine on the night of the 23rd, its object being to bring the boys of the camp into closer touch with each other. With some it appeared to be too close a touch, while with others it was a very close touch.

The first meeting took place at the club at the corner of King and Second Sts. and from the number of attendants seemed to immediately become popular, some candidates for nomination even leaving their beds in their nighties and hurrying to the place of meeting in that scant attire, so great was their anxiety to be initiated. The idea is supposed to have originated from the versatile brain of Chas. Piercy, and George Preston was the first member voted into the chair. After the inauguration ceremony was over it appeared to be the main object of the crowd waiting to be made members to pass the chair, and to pass it as soon as possible. With others it seemed a hard matter to get them out of it once they had got in it, while others required a deal of persuasion and argument to induce them to put their modesty on one side and accept the honor offered them.

A visiting committee, was formed who called on several gentlemen and by argument and persuasion induced them to allow the society to have the honor of their patronage.

One member, namely Wm. Gurrill, was escorted from his hotel to the club house by music and singing, which he greatly appreciated, and greatly enjoyed the ceremony on his arrival.

Of course, like all newly formed institutions, there was some kicking against the informal way of the proceedings, Ed. Hoyt entering a vigorous protest, seconded by Eck Charlebois, but after the question had been thrashed out it was decided to let the proceedings go on as they were, which appeared to somewhat dampen the feelings of Messrs. Hoyt and Charlebois, also their clothes. Regret was shown by several members at the unavoidable absence of Gordon Gauthier, the new recorder, who was kept away, it was announced, by a pressing engagement!

Some of the inhabitants seemed to feel slighted on being told of the affair afterwards, but the committee tender their regrets to them for the unintentional neglect and promise not to forget them on the occasion of their next meeting. On being informed of the affair again several of the boys were too modest to accept the honor offered them and beat a hasty retreat. One well known military member of the camp with his martial instinct retreated to his stronghold at the double and fortified himself against invasion by the enemy both front and rear, thereby saving two points.

For this issue only we have been permitted to give the password of the club, which any male inhabitant of Porcupine will gladly answer. It is: Where Can I Get a Shampoo?

THERE WILL BE MOOSE MEAT FOR ALL Game More Abundant Than Ever in the North Country This Fall

New Ontario promises to be a real hunter's paradise when the big game season opens this fall. Chairman J. L. Englehart of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission, who has been making an inspection tour of the Government line, says that the whole north country is overrun with bull moose, cows and calves to a degree of abundance that he had never known before. At Bushnell, mileage 47, on the railway, Supervisor Edwards, who is in charge of the first division, under General Roadmaster Young, saw thirty moose last week, following each other a la Indian file.

Mr. F. B. Grey, cousin of Earl Grey, ex-Governor-General of Canada, walked eight miles between Matheson and Iroquois Junction on Sunday, a week ago, and during his stroll counted twenty-three moose. This would be in the neighborhood of mileage 225 on the line. Mr. F. B. Grey is one of the most enthusiastic settlers in the north country. Personally, Mr. Englehart declares he saw moose everywhere throughout his trip.

"There never was a time since the T. & N. O. was projected when there has been such an abundance of moose in the north," he said. "Frequently they were observed on the track of the railway itself, and they only moved off when the engine was fairly on top of them."

There was a report in the papers last week to the effect that a train had run down a large cow moose. The carcass was buried—a report which Mr. Englehart filed and smiled over.
