Timmins News in Brief

J. V. Guilfoyle left on the noon train Tuesday for Haileybury on a short business trip.

Albert Courtemanche is resigning his position as Chief of Police.

Capt. C. M. Piercy is again in the Gold Camp for a few days from Camp Borden.

Jack Nolan has been doing some diamond setting on drills for the government, having been requested by letter from Ottawa to do this as the work previously done at the Capitol was not satisfactory.

John W. Fogg left last week for three weeks vacation to Portland, Maine, and other southern points.

Mrs. D. Deacon and daughter, Mrs. W. G. Smith, arrived home on Monday after a month vacation in Brockville and Aurora.

The Hayden road has been fixed up during the past week and it will take considerable traffic to put it in good shape for motors as the heavy sand makes it difficult even for horse vehicles.

Harry Asseline left Saturday for his home near Kingston, having received word of the serious illness of his sister following an operation for appendicitis.

Those in charge of the 228th in Timmins wish to express their appreciation and thanks for the kindness of the Marshall-Ecclestone Co. in providing them with an office, light, and furniture during the past couple of months.

Louis Gezer, Ted Allworth and Charlie Cummings went down the river Saturday night and returned Sunday bringing about a dozen nice specimens of trout.

The family of Capt. Anchor arrived in camp Monday from Sacramento, Calif., and will make their home at the Dome Extension property, where the former office building has been overhauled for their occupancy, and the office removed to an adjacent building. The party was composed of Mrs. Anchor and four children.

Jack Nolan is leaving to-day for Boston Creek and expects to bring back the remains of the diamond drilling outfit which he was working in that locality at the time of the big fire. The outfit will require considerable repairs before going into commission again.

W. G. Smith left Saturday for Haileybury where he met Mrs. Smith and baby and Mrs. D. Deacon and escorted them back to Timmins, arriving here Monday evening.

Comfortable quarters have been secured by the 228th Battalion in the J. R. Gordon Block where they will now transact all their affairs and receive recruits.

The terrific windstorm about 3 a.m. Tuesday stirred up the smouldering bushfires around the Gold Camp until the neighboring sky took on a lurid hue. A great many people in Timmins were aroused from their slumbers by the heavy rush of wind and a large number dressed in anticipation of a real tornado. The rain which followed a few minutes later served to check the fires and the storm passed over without serious damage.
