Newray Directors Will Hold Meeting

"The initial meeting of the directors of Newray," says Hamilton B. Wills, "will be held this week in Buffalo, at which several important changes on the board will be made. The calibre of the gentlemen to be elected will automatically give to the company a stability never before enjoyed. According to my information the following will be the new board: Clark L. Ingham, president of the Bell Telephone Company of Buffalo, will be the president; Howard Bissell, one of the officials of the People's Bank of Buffalo; Dr. B. J. Bixby of Buffalo, who stands foremost in his profession; James A. Day of Toronto and C. P. Charlebois, the present mine manager. As it was after a close personal inspection as well as an exhaustive report made by an independent engineer that the Buffalo men consented to become financially interested or permit the use of their names on the executive, such a board is bound to prove a tower of strength and instill widespread confidence in so far as the future is concerned."
