Mining News

The building for the new mill at the Swastika is practically completed the carpenters being employed now in putting on the galvanized sheeting. The machinery is not yet delivered, but is expected inside 30 days, and the management state that they will have the mill running within 30 days from the delivery of the machinery. The foundations and cement work for the installing of the machinery are all in place.

Swastika.—Before the first of January two mills should be in operation at Swastika and treating from 80 to 90 tons of gold ore per day. The Swastika ten stamp mill is ready for the machinery at any time. At the Lucky Cross five stamps will be installed and room left for five more to be installed later. The shipping of two tons of ore from the Tough claims has sent many prospectors into the Kirkland Lake section and some promising looking finds have been made. The latest discovery is on the Oakes claims about a mile south of Kirkland on the contact between the porphyry and conglomerate where an ore body has been uncovered showing rich stringers.

Harry Oakes, who was a partner with the Tough brothers in the claims, sold to Mr. C. A. Foster, is putting up camps and intends to work the claims himself this winter. Other discoveries of promise in the vicinity are on the Costello, the Terry and the Wright-Hargreaves claims, and the success attained has drawn many men into the woods, so that at present there are probably more prospectors round Swastika than at any other mining centre in Northern Ontario.

LALLY SYNDICATE TO COMMENCE WORK

Have Good Looking Properties in Turnbull and will Test Them Intelligently

Porcupine is making good so rapidly these days that renewed attention is being given to the outlying townships and Turnbull and Robb are receiving their share of believers that gold is to be found in paying quantities.

This week sees the Lally claims in Turnbull having work started. Camps are being erected and a gang of men will most thoroughly demonstrate whether the promising looking claims owned by the Lally Syndicate of Montreal are what they seem on the surface.

On one vein of solid quartz from 8 to 12 feet wide there will be two pits sunk the entire width of the vein to the depth of 25 feet and samples tested, and probably one or two mill tests made from several tons of ore. These pits will be sunk at either end of the vein which has been traced about 1200 feet. On the surface of this veins assays will be made every fifteen or twenty feet for the whole length of the vein.

The company is amply financed to go ahead with actual mining as soon as the exploration work is finished.

The Lally claims are next to the St. Peter properties which it is said some of the Hollinger people individually have backed and acquired interests.

Mining News

In six years the Nipissing Co., of Cobalt has returned to its stockholders $9,490,000. The company has ore reserves valued at $6,000,000 and a substantial surplus in the treasury.

W. E. Edwards has a force of men on his property in Tisdale on the Deloro line, west of DomeLake, as well as doing considerable assessment work on thirteen claims in Southern Whiteay.

We learn from sources usually well informed that Toronto, New York and Montreal brokers are carrying short contracts totaling nearly two million shares of listed Porcupine and Cobalt stocks. It is well known that a large number of Toronto brokers are continually advising the sale of Porcupine stocks that of course would lead color to the above report as their only hope of profit on their short commitments lies in their ability to induce actual holders to sell out at the lowest prices.

We cannot see however in the face of the present production of nearly a half million dollars per month and the phenomenal discoveries being made in nearly all the active workings of the camp, wherein they can hope to put prices any lower than those at present ruling. The position is such that it would not be surprising to see a reversal of position any day and prices go soaring on strength of short covering alone.

Fifty Million Dollar Company

New York, Oct. 17.—A tobacco company entirely independent of any of the subsidiaries which made up the American Tobacco Company before the dissolution, was incorporated yesterday with $50,000,000 capital under the laws of Virginia, according to announcement issued in this city, setting forth details of the new organization, which will be known as the Tobacco Products Corporation. The capital is divided into $30,000,000 common stock and $20,000,000 preferred stock.

FROM A DIFFERENT ANGLE.

"I suppose," observed the tramp, bitterly, "you would like to have me get off the earth. But I cannot."
"Have you tried soft soap?" asked the woman in the blue gingham dress dispassionately.—Puck.

TEACHERS' MET AT ENGLEHART

The Subject of Manual Training in Schools Given Particular Attention

The Third Annual Convention of the Timiskaming Teachers' Association was held in the Assembly Hall of the Englehart Public School, on Thursday and Friday, October 10th and 11th.

The attendance was large and under the wise guidance of the President, Mr. Hoggarth and the genial supervision of Inspector Hallett, the convention was interesting and instructive.

The first session opened on Thursday at 2 p.m. after the Scripture Reading by Rev. Mr. Robertson, the visiting teachers were heartily welcomed by Dr. Lowery, Mayor of Englehart and Dr. Lowe, Chairman of the Board of Education.

The first paper was read by Miss Sullivan of New Liskeard on "Discipline." Miss Sullivan dwelt upon the moral value of discipline in strengthening character and developing true manhood or womanhood. She emphasized the importance of the personal factor in the problem—the personality of the teacher, his sympathy with and love of the work and his insight into character and conditions. The practical side of the subject was also discussed, and means suggested for securing discipline.

Mr. Chambers of North Bay then addressed the meeting on "Manual Training." Mr. Chambers began by correcting the general impression that Manual Training means practice in wood-cutting, etc., and defined it as training the mind to direct the hand. Mr. Chambers explained the need for Manual Training on the School Curriculum, and pointed out its disciplinary value, and the part it plays in developing character, and in inculcating respect for work.

A short discussion of the subject by Mr. Reid of Cobalt and Mr. Macfarlane of Haileybury, closed the first session of the Convention.

The Friday morning session was opened by an instructive paper on grammar by Mr. Reid. Mr. Reid rapidly reviewed the history of the English language. He then defined the subject, Grammar, and explained its great value in teaching the approved usages of a language, and in interpreting its meaning. In concluding, Mr. Reid gave some useful practical hints with regard to teaching the subject.

Mr. Chambers gave a second address on his subject of the preceding day. In this address he pointed out the utilitarian value of Manual Training, and gave practical illustrations of its place on the curriculum.

A paper on History by Miss Richardson of Latchford, followed. Miss Richardson dealt very carefully with the general aim of history—to teach the real value of the social and political forces of today—and with the ethical value of its appeal to the higher emotions. As more important, she emphasized its value in forming habits of careful reasoning and sound judgment. Miss Richardson concluded with a short discussion of the best methods to be used in teaching history.

At the afternoon session, many questions of interest discussed, and arrangements for the next Convention made. South Porcupine was chosen as the place of meeting and the following officers were elected to the Executive for the ensuing year—
Hon. President—Mr. Hallett.
President—Miss Beattie.

Vice-President—Mrs. Charlebois.
Secretary-Treasurer—Miss Higgins.
Committee—Misses McAlpine, E. Young, Macdonald, Rush, Macrae, Baxter.

Representative to the O. E. A.—Mr. A. W. Wilson, B.A.

The Convention was declared a success by clever insight, success by all present. The papers and sound judgment, and the discussions were helpful.

An interesting concert and a merry dance on Thursday evening were thoroughly enjoyed by the visitors and a side trip to Englehart Falls was also full of interest. The members of the Association left Englehart with kind remembrances of the hospitality of the Northern town.
