

PORCUPINE HONOR ROLL

608

A list of the Porcupine men who have volunteered for overseas service since the beginning of the war appears hereunder. As some men from this district have enlisted for service with outside units, their names may be missing from the list, and we ask our readers to supply them as soon as noted so that the muster may be complete for reference.

RED CROSS RETURNS
(From The Broke Hustler)
In spite of the bad weather on October the 18th every one jumped in and did their bit for the British Red Cross. Bright and early many of the ladies, married and single, were out in the mud and rain tagging the willing and the unwilling, and they kept up their work until the last tag was gone.
The food sale and supper at the home of Mrs. McInnis was a big success, and we certainly have reason to be proud of Inroquois Falls Home Cooking.
At the entertainment our local talent gave very creditable performance and the Moving Pictures made a big hit with youngsters.
The dance was crowded and everyone had a fine time.
Over Seven Hundred dollars was raised. $250.00 of this amount was contributed by the Patriotic Association.
Mrs. McInnis on behalf of the Red Cross Society wishes to thank all of those who contributed so generously both in time and money.

BASKET BALL LEAGUE
A Basket Ball League is being formed in Town. Paymaster Horsburgh has volunteered his services as temporary chairman of a committee to start the ball rolling. Everyone interested should get in touch with him just as soon as possible so that a permanent organization may be formed.
A meeting of the Patriotic Association will be held in the basement of the Methodist Church on the evening of October 29th.
Jack Frost, being no respecter of persons, froze up Shum's flower and vegetable garden, and certain young ladies of the Town are missing their usual "onion bouquets," but Shum says he is going to do better next spring.

"Secure The Help of Your Local Paper"

"Secure the help of the local papers and talk this up in your advts." That is the advice of The Dry Goods Review to merchants in the matter of saving waste in delivery and approvals. The advice is good,—not only for this particular question now agitating merchants, but it is good for all questions and matters that affect merchants and the public.

"Secure the help of the local papers and talk this up in your advts." That, of course, has apt reference to the saving that may be made in regard to the present wasteful methods of delivery. Customers could do away with much extra expense if they would assist more if the delivery of parcels. We need wise economy at this time. By carrying home all small purchases, by a little planning in purchasing, so as not to be giving a half-a-dozen different orders for delivery at different times when one order would answer, the customers could reduce the cost of doing business and thus strike another blow at the high cost of living. Delivery service costs money, and of course it is the public in the end that pays. The public would no doubt gladly make the saving if they were sure it would be a saving to them. They have the idea, however, that with the non-advertising merchants, it would be a case of the storekeepers "saving" here just as they think they "save" by not advertising. The public feel doubtful about those business men who are afraid to advertise. And who can blame the public.

"Secure the help of the local papers and talk this up in your advt." That is good advice for Prices, Service, and the other matters that mutually affect the merchants and the public.

There are businesses that actually

CAN NOT AFFORD to advertise. If they published the truth about their prices, service, etc., it would injure rather than help their little trade. But, if you are in the other class, Mr. Merchant,—the class that is giving honest service and fair value, then "Secure the help of your local paper and talk these things up in your advts."

The Advance will be pleased to talk over the matter of advertising with you, and show you where it will profit both you and the public to "Secure the help of your local paper and talk this up in your advts."
