Timmins News in Brief

Miss Lafferty, now of Iroquois Falls, but formerly of Timmins, spent the week end in town.

Mrs. T. Lawlor and son, Arthur, are away on a three weeks' trip to Sudbury, Vancouver, Seattle and other Western points.

Mr. A. J. Brant, formerly manager of the Keora property, was in town recently purchasing supplies for Delora properties in which he is concerned.

Mr. Chas. Barnard, who has been driver of the town fire team for the past sixteen or seventeen months, and given excellent satisfaction in that capacity, has resigned, desiring a change of occupation. His place has been taken by Mr. Murray Bates, of Matagam, who started in his new work at the fire hall on Tuesday morning.

Last week was not Bill Pierce's lucky week. At the baseball game on Wednesday at Iroquois Falls, while sliding to a base, he got about a yard of the paper town gravel in the palm of his left hand, and then later in the week a window fell on his head taking about a yard of scalp off. Both injuries are as he says, "sore but not serious."

Several from Timmins, including Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wilson, enjoyed the social evening and dance given at the Connaught Hotel last Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. King, of South End. The evening proved a very pleasant one to the friends of Mr. and Mrs. King, about 60 couples being present, and dancing, cards, music by Colombo's Orchestra and a dainty lunch being among the enjoyments given.

Again the announcement is made once more already yet some further, that Premier Borden is making arrangements whereby a law will be possible compelling all aliens of the Allied nations living in Canada, and of military age, to either join the Canadian military forces or be deported to their own lands. What was it that the Governor of South Carolina remarked about the length of time?

Mr. Walter Ecclestone left on last Wednesday's National for Timmins.

Mr. A. Assad, of Schumacher, was in town last week and referring to the recent robbery there said that he wished it distinctly understood that the loss would make no difference to the business. The business would be conducted as usual, the store kept open and running and all creditors would be paid in full. "I wish to announce to the public," said Mr. Assad, "that no creditors need worry about the matter, as we will pay everybody and asse everybody right."

Timmins has been receiving all sorts of fame in outside city newspapers for now being a "stumpless" town. Last week it had the poor fortune for a couple of nights to be also a "street lightless" town. Luckily, however, the lights did not go out on the street at night until the lights had been knocked out of most of the stumps in daytime. The lights were out Monday and Tuesday evening, but were on again Wednesday evening as usual, but the stumps are gone for ever. The cause of the street lights going out, so far as The Advance can gather, was that thingamajig on the whatyoumay-call-it got out of kilter.

A local umpire writes:—"Don't roast the umpire. Recall that pitiful sign which hangs over the struggling piano player sweltering in the heat and dust of an Arizona saloon—"Boys, don't kill the piano player; he's doing his best." Everybody may remember that sign but some may also remember this:—"One day an old prospector drifted into the saloon. He heard the noise of the piano, and promptly pulled his gun. Then he read the pitiful sign, and wept. With the tears streaming from his eyes, he deliberately shot the fellow at the piano. "Thank the Lord, boy," said the old prospector, "I have done at least one good deed in my life; I have put that poor devil out of all his misery." The Coroner's Jury brought in a verdict to the effect that the man at the piano had deliberately committed suicide while temporarily deranged, imagining that he knew something about playing. There are two sides to every question, and this is a hard old world.

Mr. E. L. Longmore left this week for a few weeks' holiday in the south.

Mr. S. Schueller has gone West for the harvest time.

Mr. John Clark was home from Iroquois Falls for the week-end. His son, Will, also visited his home here from the Alexo Mine.

Mr. Kenneth Deacon returned on Saturday to resume his civil life, having been formally discharged from the Army after several months' service in Canada and overseas.

Mr. J. R. Gordon has received a card from Fred Harris, one of his old employees at Cobalt, and well-known in the North Land. Pte. Harris was wounded on July 4th and is now in hospital "somewhere in France."

The trouble between the Mayor and the Chief of Police of Haileybury apparently was to be fixed up with a letter of apology to be written to the Council by the Chief. Last week the letter was received, but was not satisfactory, and Chief Collins was given to understand that he must write one in which such phrases as "alleged misconduct," and other qualifying words are absent. It is a funny world—this North Country.

The foreign Fortune Tellers that opened a stand on Third Avenue left town a few days ago after a proper session in Timmins. Although their business seemed in direct opposition to the provisions of the Criminal Code they were allowed to do business here and they raked in the money from the credulous. So little afraid were they of the Chief of Police that they actually touted for business on the street. One of those approached to "have his palm read" was one of the Town Councillors. Instead of accepting this invitation the Councillor in turn invited the police to get busy. This is getting to be a funny town.

The blueberry crop in this immediate district is nothing to write about. The recent frosts finished the most of the blueberry patches and the present reach of the recovering crop is only a few berries. In the Haileybury district, for instance, the blueberries are reported in some sections as unusually good. The Porcupine this year, however, will have to be content with an unusually good yield of raspberries. During the past few weeks the number of those picking raspberries in this district has been large, and all classes of people have taken part in the work, some going barefoot to the patches and others using their motor cars to run them near to where the berries were. The flies made the berry-picking harder work than it would otherwise have been, but even at that it may be some comfort to know that the flies were not so bad this year as last. Of course, the particularly pleasing feature of the large amount of berry-picking done here this year is the fact that the use of the wild berries will allow more of the southern fruit to be used for the jam supplied to the soldiers and sailors on active service.

The report that the Sandy Falls Power Plant is closed down now is not true, as both the Wawatit and Sandy Falls plants are running at present. During July the Sandy Falls plant was not running steadily, as the Wawatit plant was able to fully handle all the power requirements of the Porcupine at that time. Recently, however, repairs and extensions being made to the Wawatit plant required the pressing into service of the plant at Sandy Falls again, and this plant has consequently been a decided factor in supplying the Porcupine with power. Indeed, it is rather surprising to suggest, as one daily paper did last week, that "the Porcupine has now only one power plant—the one at Wawatit." The Porcupine has, and will continue to have, two well-equipped power plants—one at Sandy Falls and the other at Wawatit. Both may not run at full capacity all the time, but both will be ready for full use at any time. Though it may be true that conditions in the gold industry have decreased the amount of power used now, the time is coming when even the two big plants will not be enough for the requirements of the Porcupine when conditions return to normal and this Camp booms again—as it will.
