Timmins News in Brief

Born—In Timmins, on Thursday, November 14th, 1918, to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Warren,—a daughter.

Born—In Timmins, on Friday, Nov. 15th, 1918, to Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Martin, a son.

Born—In Timmins, on Saturday, November 16th, 1918, to Mrs. Geo. M. Dewar,—a son.

Mr. J. McGee left on the National on Sunday for Toronto where his son, Stanley, is to undergo an operation.

Mr. H. Fernley was a visitor to town on his way from Regina to Toronto.

Mr. Harry Viland returned last week from a month's holiday at his home in Eganville and other points east.

His many friends are pleased to see Sergt. Geo. Smith able to be out again after his recent battle with the influenza.

All were pleased last week to see Mr. Ed. Leslie around again after a couple of weeks' illness at the Cottage Hospital with the influenza.

Capt. Sherrill, a well-known mining man, interested in several North Land mining properties, including the Dome Lake, spent a few days in the Camp last week.

Last week no less than three members of the Imperial Bank Staff were off duty suffering from attacks of influenza. No doubt they caught the colds through so many drafts passing through their cages. Help!

There will be general sympathy in the Camp with Mr. Wm. Pollard, of Pottsville, in the death at an early hour last Wednesday morning of his wife. The remains were taken south for interment at her old home.

Two men going last week from Toronto to lumber camps near Parry Sound got drunk on bay rum. Both took sick and despite all that medical skill could do they died in the course of a few hours.

Miss McKenzie, of the J. R. Gordon office staff, left on Thursday last for her home in Owen Sound, but was taken ill on the train and had to be removed to the North Bay hospital. Her many friends will be pleased to hear that she is making good progress to recovery.

When two Sudbury doctors went to the house of George Dixon of that town to examine him as to his sanity, as he had been acting strangely for some time they met with a loaded revolver. Dixon pointed the weapon right in one doctor's face and pulled the trigger, but the revolver by a sort of miracle failed to discharge. One of the doctors and two policemen left the house hurriedly, but the other doctor grappled with the insane man and after a struggle succeeded in getting him under control. Dixon was committed to an insane asylum last week.

In a letter from Mr. Martin Myles, now at Niagara Falls, Ontario, with the Hydro Electric Commission, the request is made that his best regards be given to all his friends in the Porcupine. Only the large circulation of The Advance could fill a contract like that, for Friend Martin Myles has about as many friends here as he has acquaintances,—and nearly everybody here knows him. He writes under date of November 9th and enquires how the Armistice was celebrated in Timmins on Thursday, November 7th. "Dawn here," he says, "they sure went the limit, and then some. Every thing wid' open on the American side. It sure was some night. And now we have it all to do over again. Well, practice makes perfect, they say."

Mrs. McKenzie, of Cobalt, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. B. E. Martin.

Mr. D. W. O'Sullivan, who was ill for some days with influenza, is now able to be out and around again.

Mrs. Daher and three children are ill with the influenza, but are making satisfactory progress to recovery.

Mrs. A. Larocque and daughter, Mrs. Louis Pare, left on Tuesday for a visit at Ford City, Ont.

Miss Hazel Stewart is visiting her home in New Liskeard for a few days.

Mr. C. Holbrooke, of North Bay, arrived last week to join the staff of F. M. Burke's drug store as graduate druggist.

Mr. W. Oke, Sr., having sold his tobacco business to Mr. Ben. Jacobs, left Tuesday morning for Toronto where he will reside in future.

Mr. Chas. Hill, of the Mattagami Garage, leaves today (Wednesday) for Gravenhurst to take up a garage business in that town.

Lieut. Montgomery, recently returned from overseas service, is visiting his brother, Mr. H. E. Montgomery, Clerk-Treasurer of Timmins.

Another Austrian was buried here on Sunday with monetary honors,—the music alone costing $100, and the rest of the funeral expenditure being alone a similar scale.

Fire Chief Borland has two influenza patients at his home this week, both his son, Walter, and his little daughter, Maimie, suffering from the prevalent epidemic.

While at work in the C.D. mill at the Hollinger last week, Mr. Alf. Siacer was caught in one of the belts and thrown roughly around. Very luckily he escaped serious injury, but sustained painful injuries to his face and head.

G. Smyth, a well-known North Land prospector, was drowned on Nov. 7th, going in to Cairo Township with J. B. Mongeon to do assessment work. The two men were thrown from the canoe but Mongeon managed to save himself by grasping a branch overhanging the river. Smyth disappeared from sight and all efforts to locate his body were unavailing until last week when he was found. The remains were taken to Cobalt for interment.

During the celebration of the Armistice last week an Austrian in a Sudbury hospital became so excited at the noise and jubilation that he jumped from a second-storey window to the ground floor below. Strange to say, he was not much hurt, escaping with a few bruises and minor injuries. A returned soldier at the same hospital was also moved by the excitement of the occasion that he had to have medical attention and restraint to keep him in his sick-bed. Certainly, they must have made some noise in Sudbury at the celebration.

Mr. Turner, who has been on the Hollinger surveying staff for the past few months, returned to Toronto last week to resume his course at the University. During his stay in town Mr. Turner made many friends who regret his departure and follow him with sincere good wishes. Previous to his leaving here, a farewell party was given in his honor at Mrs. E. H. Bridger's on Thursday evening, when a number gathered and passed a very pleasant evening, the only regret being the expected removal from Timmins of the guest of the evening. Mr. Turner was a returned soldier, having seen over two years' hard service overseas.

ete Taylor spent the week-end at his home in New Liskeard.

Hay is selling in Renfrew for $25 per ton, according to the Renfrew newspapers. Hay is selling in Timmins for $35 to $38 per ton. Why this thushness?

A man in town bought 50 pounds of honey this week down east at 20 cents per pound. A merchant who does not advertise is selling honey at 35 cents per lb. in Timmins. No wonder some merchants say it does not pay to advertise.

When the operator at Sudbury received the information over the wire that "the world war will come to an end, etc.," he became excited and transcribed the message: "The world will come to an end, etc." The announcement created much excitement in Sudbury where most of the people are hardly ready for the end of the world. However, by the excitement and enthusiasm shown in celebrating the Armistice, it might be judged that the world was just beginning for Sudbury.

GUESSING CONTEST FOR CHILDREN THIS WEEK.

Following the successful guessing contest held last week at Timmins' new jewelry store, Messrs. W. N. & P. H. Stock announce another guessing contest this week,—this time for the children only,—16 years and under. Particulars of this contest may be found in their advertisement elsewhere in this issue. As the contest is absolutely free and the prizes very attractive the boys and girls should get busy at once. In the contest last week there were several hundred guesses, the number of beans in the jar being placed as low as 423 by one and as high as 7000 by another. The actual number was 3220. There has been frequent comment on the fair, square, sportsmanlike manner in which the contest was conducted by the store and by the judges, so the youngsters this week will have a feeling of confidence with which to enter the new contest, being sure that they will be well and fairly treated.

AUSTRIAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF MEANEST THEFT

"Mike," an Austrian who has been working at the Emergency Hospital as an attendant, was arrested on Saturday by Chief Wilson and now faces charges that if proven constitute about the meanest and lowest type of theft. Indeed, it would be difficult to believe such charges in regard to anyone but an Austrian or other Hun. For several days past complaints were being made to the police regarding thefts from the patients and dead men at the Emergency Hospital. In the list of thefts so recorded were several watches taken from men who had died at the hospital. Among others there was a valuable watch taken from the late A. Maki. This watch had a rather unusual waterproof silver case with a gold edge on the back, and with a 21-jewel movement in the case. On Saturday, Chief Wilson, who has been working on the theft cases for some days, noticed "Mike," the Austrian on the street, and believing that he acted as if he feared observation, the Chief stopped him and asked him what he had in his pockets. Investigation showed that Mike had three watches on him and a couple more were found in his room. One of the watches he admitted belonged to a patient at the hospital, his explanation being that he used it in temperature-taking and had forgotten to take it out of his pocket before leaving the hospital. Some of the other watches he claimed to have bought in various places, but his stories are Austrian enough in character to fully warrant his trial before Magistrate Atkinson on Thursday. In the meantime, there will be opportunity for relatives of those whose watches were stolen to see if they can identify any of those found in this Austrian's possession.
