The regular meeting of the Timmins Fire Department will be held on Friday evening, January 3rd, 1919, at 7:30 p.m. All members are kindly requested to attend as there is business of special importance to be dealt with.

The annual parishioners' meeting of St. Matthew's Church will be held in the church on Thursday, January 9th, at 8:00 p.m., for the receiving of reports, election of officers, and the transaction of general business. All male and female members of the congregation above the age of 21 years are invited to attend.

Mr. Homer L. Gibson, the well-known mining broker of Toronto, was a visitor to the Camp this week, and has all his old-time faith in the future of the North Land and especially in the Porcupine. He foresees remarkable expansion in the gold mining industry and rapid but solid growth in the near future of centres like Timmins.

The Italian who was committed to the asylum some weeks ago from here returned a few days ago apparently discharged as recovered. He had a relapse last week, however, and had to be taken to the cells. There the new furnace in the basement of the municipal building permits him without serious danger to his health to follow his fancy for dressing in the Garden of Eden styles. It cost the municipality about $50 directly to have him committed to a proper place for treatment three weeks ago, and now apparently further cost and trouble will be entailed through his release before a cure was made.

WINNERS OF FREE PRIZES AT E. H. BRIDGER'S STORE.

At E. H. Bridger's book, stationery and fancy goods store there were five free prizes offered to lucky customers during the Christmas season, and there was much interest taken in the contest. Each customer was given a receipt with every purchase of 25 cents or more and this receipt carried a number. In the vault of the Canadian Bank of Commerce was a sealed envelope containing the five lucky numbers which were not known to anyone. On Christmas Eve the envelope was secured from the bank and on opening the lucky numbers were found to be 188, 479, 236, 750 and 1053. The first prize number, (188), was held by Jimmy Deacon, who accordingly received the handsome rocking horse displayed in the window. Miss Viola Staaf won the second prize with No. 479; Herb Ayotte won fourth prize and H. McQuarrie got the fifth prize. The third prize was won by 236, but the holder of this ticket has not yet come forward. If 236 will make himself or herself known and produce the ticket at the store the prize will be duly awarded.

Miss Walton, of Michigan, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lawrence.

Miss Mahoney was called to her home at Hurndale's Bridge, near Ottawa, last week, owing to the death of her cousin, Frank Gillies, from influenza.

ORGANIZING GREAT WAR VETERANS' ASSOCIATION.

As suggested in The Advance last week the Great War Veteran's Association will be organizing a branch in the Porcupine district about the middle of January. For the success of this plan, it requires the support of public opinion to help them in their work. If the public were acquainted with the aims and objects and purposes of the Great War Veterans the fullest support would be given by all. Accordingly, it has been suggested that a public meeting be held at an early date for the explanation and discussion of the G. W. V. A. and their aims and progress. At the public meeting officials of the Great War Veterans would outline the general purposes of the Association and the local requirements, and the public here would have opportunity to place on record their approval of the policy and ideals of the Association.

THE REAL "CHRISTMAS" KEOUGH CAUGHT AT LAST.

"Christmas" Keough, the notorious crook, so called because he operated only in the busy holiday season, was arrested some days ago at Altoona, Penn. A. P. Macaulay, a Toronto broker well-known in the North Land, was arrested at St. Louis a couple of years ago as "Christmas" Keough and had great difficulty in proving that he was not the guilty party, as merchants and others swore that he was the man passing worthless cheques on them. He spent a lot of money endeavoring to clear his name, but an apology from the court was all the satisfaction he obtained.

The real "Christmas" Keough arrested at Altoona, gives the name of Henry Harris. His game was to represent himself as a Toronto mining engineer and pass travellers' cheques in the Bank of Commerce. He was so clever at the game each Christmas that he "got away" each year with a lot of money.

OFFERS SPECIAL SERVICE TO PORCUPINE CLIENTS.

As will be noted by the announcement elsewhere in this issue Homer L. Gibson & Co., while not at present in position to deal with their clients through the medium of their own office in Timmins, still pay especial attention to their friends and clients in the Porcupine Camp. Through special arrangement in regard to telegraphic tolls, etc., they are offering a speedy and efficient service with all charges for messages, etc., arising from business, paid by the firm. The handling of orders in the Porcupine is also facilitated by a private code, which provides secrecy and despatch. It is probable that Homer L. Gibson & Company will open an office here in the near future and in the meantime they are keeping in close touch with the Porcupine so as to give rapid and efficient service from the Toronto office.

J. P. McLAUGHLIN

Mayor 1917-1918.

LARGE AND INTERESTED MEETING OF CITIZENS.

ratepayers generally.

Councillor Brazeau agreed with previous speakers that the experience of the old councillors would be necessary to the 1919 Council and as three of the Councillors were named for Mayor with only one to be elected in that way, he was going to withdraw as a mayoralty candidate so that there would be one more of the experienced Councillors for the Council Board. He sought that men of mechanical ability would be useful and necessary on the Council so he would run as a Councillor this year, and if re-elected would serve honestly and fairly as in the past. He referred to the fact that the conditions had not allowed more than $6500 to be spent for public works in the past two years, but he thought the money had been wisely expended. He referred to some of the work accomplished, such as stump ing and stoning the streets, etc.

Chas. Pierce in a humorous speech, defended the Scavenger Dept. This year it had brought the $40 and promissory notes for $460, while last year it had cost $6000. Sickness had interfered with the work, but it was not so badly done. Later in the evening he also showed how in several instances he had saved the town money in different ways.

Dr. Moore, Chairman of the Finance Committee, in a brief but capable address explained the financial status of the town. It was a difficult town to finance, on account of its newness, rapidity of growth, war conditions, and the stigma attached by outsiders to mining towns. It was difficult to make outsiders realize that Timmins was a permanent town built up on a valuable and legitimate industry, and so bonds were hard to sell. The recent sale of waterworks debentures, the money for which would be along in a few days, would help considerably and make possible certain waterworks extensions necessary and desirable. In the past economy had been absolutely necessary and certain needed works had to be deferred, but better things were ahead. In explaining the financial standpoint, Dr. Moore showed that the town was practically $39,000 better off than a year ago. Summarizing the assets and liabilities, the town had really a credit balance of approximately $7,000 at the end of the year. The Police Dept. was a revenue producer, the Waterworks practically paid for itself, and the Fire Dept. was well worth the $6000 that it cost, less than one per cent. on the valuation of the buildings protected to say nothing of the safety for other property and the security for lives.

"I take off my hat to the Fire Chief and the Brigade," said Dr. Moore. Dr. Moore said he had been asked to stand for the mayoralty and if elected he would give his best services to the town.

Mr. Wm. De Feu pointed out three necessary things for the town's progress—resources, labor and co-operation. Two of these were here and he urged the necessity for co-operation and the representation in the Council of all classes of the community. No one understood a workingman's problem like a workingman. "If there had been a live worker on the Council," he said, "I hardly think that workingmen would have been garnished for taxes without any notice at a cost of some $700 to the town." He endorsed the idea of a general hospital for the Camp.

Messrs. L. S. Newton, E. L. Longmore, Dayton Ostrander, Jos. Therriault, J. K. Moore, L. A. Herod, R. J. Jeannette, E. S. Noble, M. B. Scott and F. C. Evans also spoke, the four last named touching chiefly on the importance of the schools here. In the absence from town of Mr. J. W. Fogg, the chairman solicited support for him as an able, popular and respected citizen of the Camp.

Dr. McInnis moved a vote of thanks to the retiring Mayor for his services in the past two years, and this being carried Mayor McLaughlin closed the meeting by wishing for the town a happy future, a good selection for the municipal board, and to all the compliments of the season.

Last Thursday was a sort of Christmas holiday time for Magistrate Atkinson in the Porcupine, at least so far as the number of cases was concerned. In addition to the young man convicted of robbery at O'Mara's camp, there were only a couple of other cases of any interest. These latter cases were to recover fares advanced to a couple of men who came up here to work for a lumbering firm. The firm alleged that the men had not kept the contract under which their fare money had been obtained, but that instead they had worked only a day or so and then left. The defence of the men was that they had come to act as cooks, but had been required to work as bush men, for which they were neither suited nor inclined. Magistrate Atkinson dismissed the cases.
