DEFAULTERS GIVEN THREE YEARS IN PRISON

Several Liquor Cases Before Thursday's Police Court.

Magistrate Atkinson had a heavy docket and many important cases before him on Thursday last. He was unable to deal with them all in the one day as usual, and so Friday was also given by him to the court here.

One of the important cases to come before him was that of the Tremblay Brothers, charged with being defaulters under the Military Service Act. These young men not only failed to observe the law regarding military service, but they also failed to register under the Registration Act. There were several charges that might have been preferred against them but Officer Tomlinson of the Dominion Police was content to press the one charge against each of the Tremblays,—that of being defaulters. The evidence showed that the two young men had been staying in the bush to avoid military service, being protected by certain signals to warn them of the approach of officers or others. On one occasion officers going to the house to take them in charge had been driven away by shot-gun fire. Not only had the brothers avoided the law, but their defiance of the law had been of bad effect generally. The defence of the Tremblays was that they had not known of the requirements of the law, but at the same time they admitted they had remained in the bush in hiding because they were afraid of punishment. Magistrate Atkinson sentenced each of the men to three years in Kingston penitentiary.

The Austrians who raised such a time recently in Moneta through a free-for-all fight in which hand axes figured also had their cases disposed of. For want of material evidence and because of the Austrian stories told by the witnesses there was no conviction in any of the cases heard on Thursday, all being dismissed. In connection with this case one Austrian was committed some weeks ago to stand trial before the Judge for assault.

The case against A. Lalonde was remanded for a week. Walter Wilson for having liquor illegally was fined $200.00 and costs, and C. Houle was given a similar penalty for a similar breach of the O.T.A. Joe Karaviez, for being drunk and less frank about it, paid $20.00 and costs. A man named Tremblay was fined $10 and costs for being drunk and a Polaek paid $300.00 for illegally having liquor. The latter case was the one in which a still figured. The town police picked up a drunken man and found a bottle on him. He told where he secured the bottle, and from the second man thus mixed in the case came the tip that brought in the Polaek. The house of the latter back in the bush in the Township of Tisdale was visited Wednesday night last by a group of Town and Township police. A still was located in the house, as well as a quantity of home-made whiskey and a hundred gallons of mash. The officers had a six or seven-mile walk out for this case, and the still was brought back with them as well as some of the other evidence. It was expected that the case would be held over until the Inland Revenue Officer could lay the charge for illegal possession for a still, but Constable Rayeroff thought it best to go on with what could be done at once. Accordingly the alien was charged with illegally having liquor and the $300.00 fine was imposed by the Magistrate.

The other important case before the Court was the preliminary hearing given Mary Norlock, charged with murder. Chief Chas. McInnis, of Tisdale, had two Austrians before the Court charged with not reporting as alien enemies. Each of the men paid a fine of $100.00 and costs for the impudent carelessness shown.

There are said to be active preparations under way looking to the development of the water power in the Fort Matatchewan district. The company being formed expects not only to be ready to supply power to the operators in the Fort Matatchewan field but also to take care of the Gowganda district. There are important water powers all through the North Land and Fort Matatchewan district is specially blessed in this particular. To suggest the development of water power for an undeveloped district would have been considered very premature some years ago, but nowadays there is so much general faith in the future of the North Land that almost any kind of commercial or industrial venture may be expected.
