

War Veterans' Memorial Fund

FOR some time it has been felt by the citizens of this district that we should in some way recognize and show our appreciation for the veterans who fought our battles overseas. The intention is to have the gift take the form of a memorial building. This building would be of material assistance in re-establishing our soldiers in civil life as well as remaining a permanent monument to the memory of those who have fallen.

A club house, where they could meet, talk over old times and plans for the future would meet both these conditions and accordingly at a meeting of the representatives from mines, labor, board of trade, town council and Great War Veterans a committee, consisting of Messrs. J. W. Reed and T. F. King, was appointed with Mr. Geo. Smith in an advisory capacity to devise ways and means of accomplishing the desired result.

The site found most desirable is the North West corner of the Athletic Field. This land was very kindly donated by Mr. A. F. Brigham if suitable. The building a three storey structure 30'x50'. Top floor will consist of ten rooms 9'6"x12', which will be let out to help defray cost of maintaining the building. A commodious eight foot verandah on North side. The main floor will consist of a Club room 24'6"x32'6" with large brick and stone fire place. Writing room 18'6"x16' and Committee room 10'x16'. Also verandah on North side full width of building. The basement given over entirely to athletic requirements, shower baths, lockers, heating and storage space. The local athletic association will be accommodated in this part of the building by the payment of a yearly fee.

Title to this building and furniture is to be held by a board of three governors or trustees appointed, one by Timmins Council, one by Tisdale Council and one by the Timmins Athletic Association, who will devise rules to insure the premises being used for the purposes designed. For the present it is proposed to turn the management over to the Great War Veterans Association, whose membership and previous record are the best possible guarantee that our gift will be used for the general good of the community as well as for the benefit of the returned man. However, it was the expressed wish of the G. W. V. A. that the ownership of this building be not turned over to them but held by trustees so that as the men slip back into civil life and the war ties and interests begin to wane in the years to come machinery will be provided for turning over the building for the use of the community as a whole.

The above is a resume of the scheme proposed. We have all desired to show our appreciation of the boys, not only for the way they buckled to in far off "Flanders Fields" but also to the way in which they are again taking up the duties of citizenship in our midst.

Those who went across did so at great sacrifice and at the risk of having to make the supreme sacrifice. Many more who would have gone, for various reasons found it impossible to do so. For those of us who were unable to go, the present proposal affords us an opportunity of showing how much we appreciate the sacrifices made. The building will be no less of a monument to our departed veterans because it will be of use to those who returned and of value to the community at large.

When the canvasser comes around, let us give freely and cheerfully to what is probably the last appeal in connection with the war.

Let everybody do his and her share towards making this campaign a big success and showing the men that we are still back of them "to the last man and the last dollar."

Campaign from July 28th to August 9th, 1919

COBALT DOES NOT WANT MINERS TO QUIT WORK

This Was Part of the Message Given By J. McGuire, who Explained The Details of Cobalt Dispute

There was a large audience in the New Empire Theatre on Sunday evening to hear Mr. J. McGuire, of Cobalt, give the Labor men's side of the present trouble at the silver mines. Mr. McGuire in an able and well-delivered address explained in detail the various steps that led up to the strike. His address covered the same ground and dealt with the same facts as sketched in the interview published last week with Hon Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, only Mr. McGuire being in closer touch with the situation went into the matter in greater detail and explained many points not touched upon by Hon Mr. Robertson. Mr. McGuire said that the miners had used every manly way to avoid a strike. They had sought a conference with the mines, they had agreed to arbitration, they had been willing to allow their case to be judged by a Royal Commission and abide by the result. In fact they had been ready to accept any honorable course to avoid trouble, but every suggestion had been refused by the Mine Managers and the men had met nothing but rebuffs. The Mine Managers would not meet them in any way or under any circumstances, according to Mr. McGuire, and the only possible result of this sort of usage was a strike. Mr. McGuire suggested that the men were very reasonable in regard to the requests made and in case of a conference with the Mines would have been ready to compromise or adjust matters in many ways. They felt, however, that they had a right to be recognized as men, and he blamed what he termed the "arrogant and autocratic attitude of the Mine Managers" for the present Cobalt strike. Mr. McGuire touched also on the efforts of outside influences to adjust the matter. In every case they had found the Union reasonable and willing to negotiate in any fair and honorable way. But even the Great War Veterans had been unable to bring the Mines and the men together. Mr. McGuire in this connection said that despite reports to the contrary the returned men were practically all with the Union in this case and were giving the strikers every moral support. In many cases the men on strike were men who had returned some months ago from fighting autoeracy overseas. Mr. McGuire made it plain that he was not here to suggest anything like a "Sympathetic strike" as some reports claimed. On the contrary, Cobalt's message was that it would like to see the Porcupine Miners continue at work as much the better way of helping Cobalt at this time. If the Cobalt Mine Managers had used the same good judgment and consideration shown by the Mine Managers in the Porcupine, Mr. McGuire said, there would have been no trouble in the silver camp. "I cannot see any reason," Mr. McGuire said, "why you should even consider going out if you are satisfied with your conditions and usage. You can help Cobalt more by staying at work and showing how Mines and men can work together to their mutual benefit." Mr. McGuire made some humorous references to the new mine stores here. He thought the general run of prices here must be higher than in Cobalt, and in this regard he contrasted the 50 cents he had paid here for a restaurant meal with the 30 cents paid in Cobalt.

Mr. N. McKinnon occupied the chair acceptably for the evening. Mr. McGuire's address was listened to throughout with great attention and apparently impressed the audience.

GOOD ORE BODY REPORTED... ON MATACHEWAN CLAIMS

The Matachewan Gold Mines have spent approximately $150,000.00 on their property in the Fort Matachewan district, but this money has not been expended without results. The President of the Company, Mr. Joseph S. Quayley, recently visited the property and was much pleased with the progress shown. His assistants have been sampling and assaying diamond drill cores, surface and underground work for some weeks past, and the general belief is that the ore body is a much more important one than was expected from former samplings. Recent work not only suggests a good width of ore, but also noteworthy values through the body of ore now believed to be located.

Major J. E. McCuaig, formerly mayor of Haileybury and well known in the North, is back from service overseas. He went over with a Forestry Battalion about three years ago.
