HERE'S SOMETHING RICH ON THE TOWN OF TIMMINS

Toronto Newspaper Gets Some Facts And Mixes Them with Humor And Imagination.

Recently The Toronto Telegram had a representative in town. If he comes back again everybody will turn out to give him a good time. He's some boy. Perhaps, he's got a little tangled regarding the attitude of people here as to prices. In this regard merchants and others may find him altogether too optimistic. On the other hand he is a pessimist by several hundred when he says that "200 houses were added last year" to Timmins and Schumacher. And the rents are not quite so bad as he suggests. And as for "premature explosions" the correspondent apparently had almost as many in his head during his brief stay here as the undertaker here has had to handle in ten years. You can't lose in a gold camp, but you can't live on the profits of burying a man a year on an average waiting for mine accidents. But it would be a shame to find fault with the Telegram's despatch. It can best be described as rich, and best appreciated by reading. Here it is in full, as it appeared in the Toronto Telegram on Thursday the thirteenth day of July in the dry year of 1922:—

"Timmins, July 11.—(Staff Special.)—Timmins, the payroll town of Porcupine gold field, is at the present moment about the most prosperous spot in Canada. Commercial travellers will tell you that no matter how lean their orders booked in other northern towns they can always pad out a fat account in Timmins. The war habit of workmen is still strong in Timmins. Miners walk into a shop and ask the storekeeper to "wrap that up," no matter if it is a silk shirt or a Panama hat. No one bothers with the price; in fact, price labels are not put upon the merchandise. A shoe shine casts twenty-five cents in the shoe shine parlors—they even have them there now—and ice cream is anything from twenty-five cents up.

"In fact Timmins is suffering a little from its proximity to mines which discharge each month something between three and four hundred thousand dollars in the shape of wages. The area is somewhat limited within which this sum must be spent, consequently it is no trouble to get rid of every sort of commodity. Gramophone records have a great vogue, also motor cars. There is not a great stretch of road about Timmins, a bumpy little run of half-mile down to Mattagami River at one side and a dusty brush out past Schumacher towards the other. But there must be a few hundred cars of all types, a few Fords and a lot of touring cars and limousines. One might say a case of keeping up with the Joneses.

"Rents are terrific. The same prices prevail for office space there as in the C.P.R. Building, Toronto, and houses are at a premium. Joint population of Timmins and Schumacher is less than 10,000, but more than 200 new houses were added last year, and building is still going on apace. The assessment is $3,000,000. House rent is higher than in Toronto, and lots are not far behind. There is no unemployment in Timmins and no poverty. In fact it is a plutocratic settlement even in these times of trade depression. Dr. McInnis ought to be a proud Mayor of the one town in Ontario which is indifferent to whether Germany goes bankrupt or not. There is much more interest in Melle, Suzanne than in Poincare, and a great deal more in the opening of the new golf clubhouse than in the big strikes going on in the United States. Timmins is a self-contained, self-sufficient town and gets worked up over films of Way Down East, even if the seats are a dollar. "Stock salesmen have found out the loose purse strings of the residents of this burg, and all sorts of schemes get liberal backing here. A canvasser for a moving picture venture recently struck town and took in thousands of dollars subscriptions, mostly from foreigners, who may have got it mining or may have saved it over and above their B.O.T.A. lines. In any case, money flows easily there. It is anything but tight.

"Almost every branch of human industry flourishes there except that of the undertaker. And enough of premature explosions take place in the mines to even keep that occupation going. But there are over 1,000 children of less than 21 years in this town. The parents are all young, like the town. And, like the town they are healthy, exuberantly so. And the schools and hospitals are a model of sightliness and efficiency. Even so, they have a hard time keeping up to the flow of children entering, and frequently houses must be taken over to handle the overflow of incoming students.

"Most of these children are born within earshot of the hum of the Hollinger great mills which pervades the tranquil air night and day, but there is growing up in the outlying lands a great farming community as well. For miles on every side now the fields of hay and oats stretch, and a repetition of the fire which eleven years ago this month devastated this district is now impossible. Besides, the local fire brigade is so efficient that a fire which burnt down a store recently containing stocks of oil was kept from the adjoining store immediately alongside, though this building was only frame. Pretty good work that.

"Timmins has one of the best hockey rinks in Canada and a sporting field second to few. It has fine residences, a police station, which, by the way, was too small on July 1st; a court house, which gives material aid to Hon. Peter Smith; in fact, everything in the way of luxury or convenience produces except a race track. As the Hollinger mine, however, is given at least 25 years more life, that may come. When the Hollinger mine has worked its last ore out Timmins will be a big city and one of which the north may justly be proud."

Mr. Frank McGuire returned last week from a few weeks' visit to friends and relatives in Toronto and other points south.

RASPBERRY AND ICE CREAM SOCIAL AT SCHUMACHER

LETTER OF THANKS FROM R. CALVERLEY

Muskoka Sanatorium, Gravenhurst, Ont., July 28, 1922. Secretary, N.O.F.A., Dome Mines, South Porcupine, Ont.

Dear Friends:—I have this day received from my wife your letter to her, of the 24th inst., and wish to acknowledge cheque for one hundred and forty-seven dollars ($147.00), being the amount collected from the two benefit games played for my benefit. I wish to thank, through you, all who participated in those games, also those who so kindly contributed to make them a success.

Yours very truly,
R. CALVERLEY.

RALPH READS THE ADVANCE FROM "KIVER TO KIVER" NOW

In a letter received by Mr. B. E. Martin this week from Ralph Calverley, the latter says:—"I am doing fairly well down here, getting lots of rest, but find it very lonesome, worse than being away in the bush. I suppose it is because we are not allowed to do any work or ever see anything new. It is the same old story every day,—eat and rest. Letters are the only comfort I find, and The Advance. I read it from cover to cover, even the advertisements for hired girls. Letters, too, are always very welcome here."

Now the above is a pretty good advt for The Advance but it is not published altogether for that, but rather as a hint to some of Ralph's many friends to help on the good work by writing him a good long letter every so often. Reading about the hired girls isn't good for Ralph. Write him something about something else. His address is "R. Calverley, M. H. C., Pavilion 9, Gravenhurst, Ont."
