NO ONE SHOULD COUNTENANCE THIS SORT OF MEAN THEFT

Mr. Ralph Di Paola recently found his camp at Christmas Lake had been entered and practically everything inside stolen—clothes, blankets, equipment, etc.—even the stove had been carried away. This means a considerable money loss, but that is not the most important feature of the incident. There is another side still more serious. One winter that camp actually saved a man's life. Mr. A. White was out prospecting and went through the ice. He would surely have frozen to death had he not been able to get into the shack, start a fire and enjoy the comfort of warmth and rest. Others travelling through the country find these isolated camps of great use, sometimes truly life-savers. It will easily be understood then that they be free from needless molestation and that their contents are not stolen. Not only should every man see that he himself does not abuse the hospitality of these lonely posts but it is his bounden duty to go out of his way to protect them. If he knows of any pikers who abuse their hospitality he should assist in bringing such pikers to justice. For the general good of the traveller the outlying camps should be fully protected and every man should do his part.

HORSES CAUSE SERIOUS DAMAGE TO GARDENS

Despite the fact that a number of local people were recently fined for allowing their horses and cattle to run at large on the streets, the practice is still allowed by some thoughtless owners of animals. The police have been watching the matter carefully in the interests of the general public, but even the police can not catch all the stray animals that may be allowed to roam. Good citizens have to do their part by seeing that their animals are kept at home. The town is too large, and there are too many nice lawns and fine gardens for the practice of pasturing the horses on the streets at night to be permitted in any way. Last week, as a sample, horses got into Mr. W. Field's garden and made sad destruction. Flowers and vegetables were ruined and labour of months spoiled. The nice crop of corn in which Mr. Field had been taking special pride was consumed or spoiled by the wandering horses. It is hard indeed for those who give their time and energy to gardens to have their work thus destroyed. Those who make gardens bloom and blossom here are doing a fine work for the community and the country. Those who allow stray animals to destroy this good work are doing poor work indeed. Keep your horses, cattle, and so on, where they will not cause unnecessary injury to good citizens. Many thanks!

Mr. F. E. Thompson, President of the Temiskaming Baseball League and manager of the Liskeard Intermediate team, was fined $10.00 and costs last week at Cobalt on a charge of disorderly conduct, the case arising from a disagreement with the umpire at a ball game between Haileybury and Liskeard. Fred is understood to have openly resented what he considered an unfair decision. Many of the football fans hereabouts sympathize with the Liskeard man. "While interference with officials should never be countenanced, of course, still it is asking too much of human nature to expect men put up with some decisions sometimes," they suggest.

Every Home Needs A "Keepsweet" Herd

IT is hard to judge how much milk and cream to buy from the milkman every day.

Sometimes you buy too much and it spoils before you can use it up. Other days you run short of milk or cream just when you need it most.

You can avoid all this costly waste of milk and cream—all the annoyance of running short—by buying your milk and cream from the grocer or fruit store in Keepsweet cans instead of from the milkman in bottles.

You can buy a whole week's or month's supply at a time. You can have a Keepsweet Herd on the pantry shelf ready at all times to supply you with rich, thick cream or pure, undiluted milk.

Just open a can as you need it. Keepsweet Milk and Cream will keep sweet, fresh and pure in the unopened cans without ice or care or trouble.

It's the wonderful Keepsweet process that does it. By this process Keepsweet Milk and Cream are sterilized in a way that retains their purity, freshness and quality without condensing, evaporating, powdering or medicating—without giving that strong, cooked taste. Nothing is added and nothing is taken away by the marvelous Keepsweet process. The food value of the milk and cream remains the same.

Open a can of Keepsweet Cream. Notice how rich and thick it is. It's not a thin, half-cream. It's more like the famous English Devonshire Cream. Taste it. You'll find Keepsweet delicious. Just the very cream you've wanted for your coffee, puddings and desserts.
