All the classes of the public school are being accommodated this week, the new Hollinger Hospital being used to accommodate those crowded out of the school. The Hospital rooms used are light and bright and make excellent class-rooms. The new desks and seats for the addition to the public school are being used for the present in the Hospital rooms. Thanks to the kindness of the Hollinger in allowing the use of the hospital for school purposes all present school needs can now be met until the addition under construction at the public school is completed.

Smelling smoke after a flash of lightning about 6.30 Saturday evening, Mr. Fairbrother, of Elm street, went outside to find that there was a little fire in progress on the roof of the house of his neighbor, Mr. J. Rivet, 43 Elm Street. Mr. Fairbrother promptly put his garden hose to play on the roof and with the assistance of Mr. Bean what was a threatening fire was turned into a dead one. In the meantime another neighbor sent in an alarm by phone, and the brigade was on the spot in what seemed like no time. A few shots from the chemical tank on top of the good work of Mr. Fairbrother and Mr. Bean meant "Fire all out" in a few minutes. The fire was started by lightning. The damage done was not serious, thanks to the prompt work of the neighbors.

The September issue of The Canadian Bandsman and Orchestra Journal, published at Toronto, is taken up largely with musical matters in regard to the National Exhibition at Toronto. Much space is given to the Band Concerts at the Ex., the reports of the judges on each band being given. The issue contains a picture of the Timmins Band and also a photo of Leader Wolno and the two mascots. Under the band picture is the paragraph:—"Timmins Band came a long way to take part in the contest. It took nearly $1200 to bring them down and they raised it all themselves. An object lesson to many other bands of what a little grit and determination will do. They have a very nice band, and we trust they enjoyed the trip to the "Big Fair."
