TWO MEN LITERALLY "BLOWN TO ATOMS"

Michael O'Neill and John Ackles Dead as Result of Explosion Of Powder.

Saturday morning about one o'clock an explosion occurred at the 550-foot level of No. 11 shaft at the Hollinger, causing the death of two well-known and highly esteemed employees of the mine, Michael O'Neill and John Ackles. Nothing will ever be really known as to the cause of the accident. All that may be known is that the men had secured five and a half boxes (about 220 lbs.) of powder, together with caps and fuse, and were on their way back to the workings when the accident occurred. It is possible that one of their lamps may have come in contact with a fuse, or that a cap was accidentally dropped or hit. The explosion completely demolished the truck, literally blew the men to pieces, wrecked the air line and light cables. The six-inch pipe conveying compressed air was split a hundred feet each way from the scene of the accident. Two men in a crosstie some hundreds of feet away were stunned for a few moments by the terrific force of the explosion. Part of the watch worn by one of the men and the identification tag of the other were picked up after the accident, but of the men themselves there has not been enough recovered for identification.

An inquest was held on Tuesday morning and after a careful consideration of all the facts available, the jury returned a verdict of death by accident.

The late Michael O'Neill was 47 years of age. He had been an employee of the Hollinger for some time past and was well liked by all who knew him. His home was at Perth, Ontario, where he has a wife and family of young children. The remains were taken to Perth for interment by the noon train to-day. The late Mr. O'Neill, familiarly known as "Red Michael," had been handling powder for 15 years. He was a valued member of the Knights of Columbus.

The late John Ackles had been in this Camp for some time, having previously been in Cobalt, and was well-known and highly regarded by all. He was 53 years of age, and leaves a widow and grown-up family. His home was in Nova Scotia. He was a miner of long experience. Interment was made in Timmins cemetery this morning. The late John Ackles was a member in high standing in the higher lodges of the Orange Order.

Very sincere will be the sympathy extended to the bereaved families and friends in the sad death of Messrs. Ackles and O'Neill.

ping out of Schumacher has made it necessary to completely revise the schedule. Schumacher has not been able to get in readiness for the King Cup series, but hopes to have a good team before the season is over, and likely in time to put up interesting competition for some of the other cups.

- Saturday, June 16th, Kirkland Lake vs. Timmins, at Kirkland Lake.
- Thursday, June 21st, Dome vs. Timmins, at Dome.
- Saturday, June 30th, Kirkland Lake vs. Dome, at Kirkland Lake.
- Saturday, July 7th, Timmins vs. Kirkland Lake, at Timmins.

MILLION DOLLAR PICTURE HERE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

"The Third Alarm," is the special at the New Empire Theatre Friday and Saturday of this week. This picture has created a regular sensation wherever shown, and has had long runs of popularity in the larger cities and towns. It is said to be as spectacular as "The Birth of a Nation." In any event it cost over a million dollars to produce. In addition to being a drama of striking force and interest, with adventure, love and the spectacular cleverly blended, it portrays very realistically the life of the fire-fighters who guard the safety of people and property. An added feature here will be a film showing Fire Chief Borland and his men and equipment in action. Timmins people may not at once recognize Chief Borland, as he wears a moustache in the picture, this part of the film being made from a photo of the Chief taken when he was Fire Chief at Woodstock, Ont.
