OVER TWENTY CASES FOR THIS WEEK'S POLICE COURT

This week's police court is not a particularly heavy one, but nevertheless there will be over twenty cases before Magistrate Atkinson tomorrow (Thursday). Up to the present moment, however, the cases registered on the docket are not of very serious character. Nine of them relate to breaches of the law in regard to horses and cattle running at large on the streets of the town. It will be noted that the police are still determined to keep stray cattle and horses off the streets. In this all good citizens will agree that they are absolutely right, and owners of horses and cattle should make a special note of the matter and govern themselves accordingly. It is a lot nicer and cheaper to learn this sort of good citizenship by thought about the matter, rather than by taking lessons from Magistrate Atkinson, whose tuition fees are high. Another series of cases will be those in regard to driving past funeral processions. This practice is sometimes thoughtlessly followed by autoists and others. The law is against it. Magistrate Atkinson will speak to four different citizens about the respect due to the dead. He will likely say it with fines. There are only three drunk cases so far this week. There are the same number of assault cases, one of them being a young fellow from Schumacher who is accused of getting gay in Moneta. Sunday evening Chief Sally and his staff raided a big game at the rear of the King Edward Cafe. They found a lot of money on the tables and a host of Chinamen present. When the police entered from the various doors and windows the Chinamen all tried to go out the same way. They even tried to dive between the legs of some of the police. However, only one Chinaman was actually able to get clean away. He would be a laundryman. Won Lad, the Chinaman, who seemed to be conducting the game, will face a charge tomorrow in the matter.

"Do you know anything about my wife's whereabouts?" he asked the queen of the tub.

"Faith, an' Oih don't, Mister Jones," she replied. "There's nary a soign of them in the wash this week."—Exchange.

ALL FOR NOTHING

"I'm off that bird Jones for life."
"How so?"
"Why, the other day he asked me to come into his cellar to see his new furnace."
"Yes?"
"He had a new furnace!"—Cleveland Six Messenger.

"DRIVE ON, JAMES!"

The taxi suddenly came to a halt in the middle of the street.
"What's the matter?" called the man from the back seat.
"I thought the young lady said 'stop,'" answered the chauffeur.
"Well, she wasn't talking to you."—More Pep.
