NO FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY EVER "ARRESTED" IN TIMMINS

Under the heading, "Things We Would Like to Know" a recent issue of "Jack Canuck," which is not a high-class magazine, published in Toronto, asks if the Chief of Police of Timmins recently arrested a four-year-old boy for picking up an apple and eating it while on a visit to the Forestry Car some weeks ago. This "Jack Canuck" magazine also asks if the people of the town of Timmins are not "laughing their heads off over the matter" as "Jack Canuck" more or less elegantly phrases it. The boy mentioned by the Toronto weekly, instead of being four years old, is seven years old. Instead of innocently coming along and picking up an apple and eating it, this lad was one of six boys rounded up by the police for what appeared to be the deliberately planned robbery of a freight car. Instead of the apples being in their way, the fruit was in a sealed car down the track where the boys had no right to be. The seal on the car was broken, the car entered and the fruit stolen. The police were called in on the case and rounded up the culprits. The boys were placed on parole by the Magistrate, and it was hoped by the authorities that the parents of the youngsters would take the incident as a lesson to warn them to look after their children in future. As for people here "laughing their heads off" over the matter such a statement is a slanderous insult to the decency and intelligence of the people of Timmins. To lovers of children there is nothing really amusing in the fact that lads of seven or eight should have a degree of cunning in evil mischief that would not ordinarily be expected from boys of 15 or 16. At the present time the town seems to be suffering from a number of lads who appear to have all sorts of precocity in devilment, but who scarcely know enough to come in when it rains so far as good sportsmanship, manliness and good manners are concerned. Boys of this type of nuisance are forever nosing around to see what mischief they may start. They are impudent, rough with each other, and without consideration for the public. Their language often is startling in its vulgarity, and they have an unhappy faculty for causing general annoyance and destruction. They run the streets at night and generally appear to be a menace to themselves and to the town. The amount of public damage done at the rink, at the athletic grounds, at the railway station and at other places in town by these youngsters who foolishly imagine themselves "smart" is more considerable than any but those who have to pay for the damage can fully appreciate. No man could "laugh his head off" over the delinquency of youngsters. He would need to be without real head at all before he could laugh at such a sad business as the entering of children on the wrong path.

In writing in this way, The Advance is not centering on the six boys in the case referred to by the Toronto magazine. The reference is rather to a growing class of would-be "tough guys" of tender age. They drift from mischief into crime, and from being a nuisance to becoming a general curse. In the interests of the boys themselves, they need a serious checking-up. It is not sympathy they need, but rather a strap or a shingle well applied to the place where it will do them the most good. If any fault may be found with the authorities it is that the police and the magistrate have been too easy on the boys inclined to be wayward and worse. The leniency will not have the right effect unless parents and others do their part and give the authorities the fullest support and co-operation. Parents should teach their youngsters to "play the game" fairly and squarely, to respect themselves and to respect others. No one has anything but the kindest feelings for the youngsters. The children here may have the greatest latitude if that kindness is not roughly abused. The record of the past year or two shows that boys have been very leniently used indeed. If some of them were permitted to do much more, they might well expect to "get away with murder" next year. Of course, any article in any magazine of the type of "Jack Canuck" is not worthy of the space taken by this reply. But the "Jack Canuck" mention made a good peg on which to hang a timely reference to a matter that for some time past has been alarming many thoughtful citizens. In addition there are people who foolishly believe anything they see in a place, and such folk might actually believe that a four-year-old lad was arrested here. There must be people who are ready to believe anything, no matter how ill-informed or foolish the source, or otherwise publications and pretended publications that appear to have little or no excuse for existence would not have any circulation at all.

INDEPENDENTS WIN GAME BY BIG SCORE MONDAY

Argonauts Win by Default from K. of C. Interest Still Keen in Soft Ball.

In the regular, scheduled double-header in the Soft Ball League staged at the Timmins Rink on Monday evening, the Argonauts won by default from the Knights of Columbus, and the Independents won from the Hollinger by a score of 19-8. Harry Boyd's Argonauts were ready to take the field at 8:00 p.m. but as there were only four members of the Knights team present the game was called and an exhibition match staged between the Argos and four members of the A.S.D. and four members of the K. of C. team. At nine p.m. Gordon Ross' Miners took the field against Carl's Independents, scoring a home run in the first when Abbie Kendall drove the ball into the top of the rink where it remained for the game. From then until the fifth the Miners went to the field with this run holding their score above the zero, while the Independents had ten runners circle the plate, and in the fifth eight. With the score standing 18-0 the Miners staged a comeback in the fifth, Carmichael and McDonough knocking out homers, Giffin a three-bagger and Kendall a double, Wylie and Ross singles, McGuire and George Kendall walking, and seven runners circling the diamond before the side was retired. This was the last innings for the Miners to score, Carl's team getting one man over in the sixth, the game ending with the score 19-8.

The batting line-up for the teams was—Hollinger—Wylie, Kendall, Carmichael, McDonough, McGuire, Giffin, Ross, Kendall. Independents—McIntyre, Tate, White, Scully, McLean, McCoy, Abramson.

The batteries were:—Hollinger—McDonough, pitcher; Kendall, catcher. Independents—Tate and McLean, pitchers; McIntyre, catcher. The umpires were N. Levine at the plate; M. Belanger at bases. This game leaves the Independents the league leaders, having won three games played, with two more to go.

M.P.P. HAS NOT HEARD FROM THE BEAVERS YET THIS YEAR

Major Mac Lang, M.P.P., for this riding, was in the Camp last week. During his stay in town he was kept busy shaking hands with old friends and new and answering the question, "What sort of winter are we going to have this time, Mac?" Some winters ago the genial Mac gained wide fame by foretelling the weather for the winter and putting all the other weather prophets out of countenance. No one remembers whether the Member for Cochrane made a correct forecast or not. He based his prognostications on the beavers, explaining that they were the only reliable forecasts of the weather. They knew what was what and what was going to be, and acted accordingly, and there you were. It was the simplest and most reliable system to depend upon the beavers. Last week Mr. Lang said it was too early yet to get a line from the beavers. Until the summer is all over the beavers do not start to think about winter and prepare for it. However, in a month or six weeks the beavers will be talking and the word will be passed along by the Member for this riding who will give out absolutely authentic information as to whether the weather is to be cold or long or warm or short this coming winter.
