A gentleman is a man who keeps his word with those who are powerless to make him do so.

Mrs. Leeman says:
"Carnol saved my life—
many thanks to Carnol"

But read her letter. It tells her story better than we can,—"I feel it my duty to write you about your wonderful medicine Carnol. In January I had an operation for appendicitis. The pain I suffered before the operation and the loss of blood afterwards left me so weakened and run down that I wasn't able to go about on my feet. I just had to lie around all the time. The doctor said I was to take iron for my blood for it was so thin. I had anemia and folks said I had only a short time to live. Carnol saved my life—many thanks to Carnol. I have gained about ten pounds in three months. After every meal I used to have indigestion and heartburn so bad that the pain was intense. A dose of Carnol would give me immediate relief. Now I am absolutely cured of both. I had severe headaches and pains across my back and they have also disappeared. "This is how I started using Carnol. I asked a friend about Carnol. She said it was awfully good. Her doctor had recommended it to her to take after she had been in bed for months and she was completely cured. I called up our druggist and asked him about Carnol. He recommended it but said he was just out of it and wanted me to take a bottle of beef, iron and wine, but I said, 'No, I want Carnol.' So he said he would send and get me some. Just as soon as it came I commenced to take it and it has renewed my blood and given me a wonderful appetite. I never have to take a laxative with this medicine. I cannot recommend your medicine highly enough. It is just exactly what the system needs."—Mrs. Wilson H. Leeman, Ivanhoe, Ont. 9-24

Missionary Tells of Hard Lot of Indians and Eskimos

No Deer in James Bay District Now. No Commercial Fish Available in James Bay, Says Rev. W. G. Walton, Who, However, Has Faith in the Mineral Possibilities of the Far North.

That the Indians and Eskimos in the James Bay region have been severely suffering in the matter of food, is the statement of Rev. W. G. Walton, Anglican missionary for 32 years in the territory east of James and Hudson Bays. He advocates the introduction of the domesticated reindeer as a remedy to present conditions.

Rev. Mr. Walton also discounts completely the idea that James and Hudson Bays have any value as commercial fishery grounds. In regard to the mineral wealth of the country he is much more hopeful. After his long residence in the area Rev. Mr. Walton ought to know conditions. It seems unthinkable that he should belittle the resources of the country in any way. It would appear that the many optimistic arguments that were used to urge the construction of the T. & N. O. Railway on to the James Bay are not all founded on sure fact, or else Rev. Mr. Walton is badly mistaken. The general public will very naturally be inclined to accept Rev. Mr. Walton's opinion unreservedly. It would appear to be the part of wisdom on the part of both the Ontario and Dominion Government to make a thorough investigation of the matter and put the official stamp upon the truth. At best nothing further should be done regarding the further extension of the Ontario Government Railway to the Bay until all the facts are known.

Rev. Mr. Walton appears hopeful in the matter of the mineral possibilities of the Far North. If enough prospecting is done with favourable results, the mineral resources may alone justify the extension of the railroad. That, however, is a question that still remains to be decided.

In a recent issue of The Northern News, Rev. Mr. Walton's statements in regard to the lack of commercial fishing grounds and the general scarcity of food were referred to. In the last issue of The Northern News there is a further letter from Rev. Mr. Walton, summarizing his position generally. Rev. Mr. Walton says:—

"The district in which I have been working as sole missionary of the Anglican Church for the past 32 years is the territory east of James and Hudson Bays. The southern third is fairly well wooded and there we have about 1000 Indians. In the Northern portion is what is called the "Barren Land" or treeless area, where 800 Eskimos hunt or rather used to hunt in the years when the caribou were plentiful. Now these Eskimos are trying to eke out an existence as best they can along the coastline and on the Belcher Islands.

"In 1883 the deer were deflected over to the Atlantic side of the peninsula through forest fires in the south during the migratory season and have never returned. Since then both Indians and Eskimos have been finding it increasingly difficult to get a living, in fact there have been quite a number of deaths from starvation and some cases of cannibalism.

"The only salvation for these people will be by the introduction of the domesticated reindeer. In that northern area we have enough feed to continuously support about 2,000,000 of these deer. The reindeer enterprise has been a tremendous success in Alaska, and I can see no reason why we should not be as successful in our district.

"In Alaska, between 1892 and 1902, deer to the number of 1280 were imported from Siberia. In a Washington report made last June it is stated that there are now 300,000 deer, two thirds of which are the property of the native Eskimos. There has been in one generation an advance through one entire stage of civilization.

"The Royal Commission on Musk Ox and Reindeer in 1921 reported in favour of the same plan for my district. The commission found that the whole of the Ungava seemed to be suitable for the reindeer and there are practically no wolves there since the caribou disappeared. The matter is likely to come before the House of Commons in a day or two and the case ought to have a sympathetic hearing. Canada owes a good deal to the original inhabitants of the country. Caring for them in a matter of justice rather than a generosity.

"A secondary consideration, which is still important, is found in the mineral wealth of the region. There are indications of large iron deposits in the Belcher Islands and the adjacent mainland and also of galena, and other minerals. But it is difficult to attract prospectors to a foodless country. Help given to the natives may indirectly bring about important results in developments.

"As regards the supposed commercial quantities of fish in the James and Hudson Bays surely it is but sufficient to convince those who understand the matter that the highest temperature I obtained of the surface water in the extreme south of James Bay during the hottest time of the year was but 53 degrees Fahrenheit, and in the south east part of Hudson Bay 47 degrees. There are some small fish of the cold water species but not in any commercial quantities, otherwise why should my people starve when the rabbits (in the south) and the ptarmigan fail? Let us but get the reindeer and make a success of them, not only will my people be kept from starvation, but prospectors can go in safely and probably find minerals that will gladden the hearts of all who cry out "on to the Bay."

"Do you call these clothes?" a Customs official asked a woman who had declared there was nothing in her trunk but wearing apparel for herself and husband. He pointed to four bottles of whiskey.

"Yes," she replied softly, "those are his nightcaps."

The policeman shouted very angrily to the crowd. "Now then, now then! Pass along there, please! You can't stand here looking at the fire."

"But you're letting that fellow over there look at it," returned an angry man.

"It's his fire," answered the policeman.
