The many friends of Miss Olive Orr will be sorry to learn that she has lost the sight of her right eye. Miss Orr's misfortune came on Wednesday last without a warning. She left on Thursday to consult a Specialist in Toronto. Her many friends are hoping with us that she will be successful in regaining her sight at a very early date. Later reports state that Miss Orr has been advised by her Specialist to take a good rest. It is most probable that the constant strain with overwork are responsible for her sudden setback. Those who know Miss Orr, can easily realize, that her untiring efforts in behalf of the many who desired her most courteous favors while performing her duties at the Post Office, had much to do with her present condition.

The Reeve of the Township received a letter last week from Broadcasting Manager, S. P. Howell, of Station C.K.C.L., Toronto, announcing their intention of holding a radio amateur band concert throughout Ontario. All small town bands participating will take a trip to Toronto, accompanied by the Reeve of said township or municipality, the latter being requested during the contest to make an address of not longer than ten minutes, stating what town he represents, its present and future possibilities, etc. The plan has the full authority of the Ontario Amateur Band Association. The date of the big contest will be announced as soon as the list of contestants is completed. Radio lovers can look forward to an exceptional programme of good music with so many bands participating.

The Porcupine Hardware opened their store to the general public on Saturday last. The new store will undoubtedly help to liven up the west end of the town.

The Porcupine Goldfields Band have announced their intention of holding a band concert in the Majestic Theatre on Sunday Eve., April 26th, after church services. The Oddfellows are holding an At Home in their Hall, on April 23rd.

The S. P. S. L. Club announce their intention of staging the Play, "Basiful Mr. Bobbs," a clever comedy in three acts, during the latter part of April.

The March Gold Mines, in Delora, have crossed their one body at the one hundred foot level. Conditions at that point were found to be very favorable. The shaft is being continued to the two hundred foot level where another station will be cut.

A party of prospectors returned last week from Delora and reported considerable activity throughout the township. Other prospectors have been seen leaving this week for Shaw township to get a good start with their assessment work during the continued good weather.

Just when the snow is about gone and the dust starts gathering on the roads, someone has to spoil it all by saying that we will have another six feet of snow before summer. If it were a coal-dealer making the statement, we would believe that his optimistic remark was well founded.

The old School Building has been raised from its moorings and is being moved to a new and attractive site adjoining the English Church. Like an old precious book that has been sent to the bindery to be bound for preservation, so will the old school be remodelled and once again in active service, but this time as none other than the new Public Library. The building carries with it many memories of the early days, especially for the pioneers who strived in those times to maintain so meagre an educational abode; to them it shall always remain a precious landmark of history, and they will feel satisfied to know that it can still be of further educational value.

The super-special "Smilin' Thru," featuring Norma Talmadge will be shown at the Majestic Theatre on Monday and Tuesday next. A special matinee will be run on Easter Monday at 2.30 p.m. The picture is considered as one of Norma Talmadge's best.

Evangelical Lutheran Services will be conducted in the Majestic Theatre on Easter Sunday at 8.00 p.m. by Pastor W. E. Biesenthal.

SCHROEDER CONCERT AN UNUSUALLY PLEASING ONE.

The large audience that filled the Goldfields Theatre to capacity on Sunday evening was practically a unit in the opinion that the event was a remarkably good one and a genuine treat to music-lovers.

"A wonderful array of fine talent," said one. "A credit to the pupils and to Prof. Schroeder," said another. "It shows the striking amount of fine musical talent here," said a third.

Mr. L. S. Newton capably occupied the chair for the evening and in a brief but appropriate address introduced the programme. It was a long and varied programme, with every single item doing credit to the artists and to Mr. Schroeder. There was not a number that was not unusually well given. There was not a number but was thoroughly enjoyed. The Banjo Quartette, the Violin Choir, the Junior Orchestra, and the individual solos and duets all proved special favourites. Solos by Mrs. Huxley and Miss Charron were vocal numbers that were specially appreciated, as was also the song by the clever little Miss Gwen Smith. Every item would have been encoered, had there been time enough. Every number would be specially commented upon and praised—were there space enough available. Let it suffice to say that every number, without exception, was specially good. The programme was as follows:—Selection by Junior Orchestra; piano solo, by Isabel Drew; Guitar selection, Messrs. LaMotte and Ash; violin selection, A. Vaccino; vocal solo, Mrs. Huxley; piano duet, odulwGdal Gladys Fairbrother and Mr. Schroeder; violin solo, Master Willie Shub; violin duet, Evaline Reginbalt and Vieno Pirtisalo; Banjo Quartette; piano duet, Mr. Lawrence and Miss

Beryl Cooper; song, Miss Gwen Smith Violin Choir; vocal solo, Miss Charron; violin duet, Burton Holland and Vieno Pirtisalo; mouth organ solo, by Mr. Bovair (a special hit); piano duet, Miss Ernestine Tremblay and Mr. Schroeder; String Orchestra; "God Save the King."
