DOME HOLDINGS NOW ARE ONE THOUSAND ACRES

Claim Recently Reported as Acquired from Mr. W. S. Edwards.

Despatches last week from South Porcupine say that it is reported in usually well-informed circles there that the Dome Mines have added recently to their already extensive holdings in Tisdale Township, and have acquired Claim 63563, adjoining the Porcupine Bonanza group. It is reported the Dome holds control of this group also. This latest deal is understood to have been consummated within the last 60 days with W. S. Edwards, of Toronto.

Acquisition by the Dome of another property in the Porcupine area brings the territory now held by the Dome Mines Limited, outside of their present workings, to something in excess of 1,000 acres. Indeed, one of the encouraging features for the town of South Porcupine and the east portion of Tisdale has been the steady accumulation in the last year or two by Dome of properties to the north and east of its present operations. It is known that Dome was the successful bidder of Porcupine Lake which went under the hammer about two years ago. The lake bed itself covers between 500 and 600 acres, and from indications, which are reported to have been found during the operations of the Hunter Mine in the early days of Whitney Township, it is believed to be extremely valuable mining land.

HOW D'YE FEEL?

"Corkin'," said the bottle.

"Rotten," said the apple.

"Punk," said the firecracker.

"Fine," said the judge.

"First rate," said the postmaster.

"Grand," said the piano.

"Keen," said the knife.

"Ripping," said the trousers.

"Juicy," said the orange.

"All done up," said the shirt.

FIERY CROSS BURNED ON SATURDAY NIGHT HERE

Another Evidence of the K.K.K. or the Work of a Practical Joker.

A number of citizens of the town noticed on Saturday night a cross burning on the flats between the station and the Hollinger. The burning object was in the form of the regular "fiery cross" of the Ku Klux Klan. It was only a small cross and burned only for a short time. There was no one near it when it was first noted on the "Cyanide," and nothing to indicate why it was there. Several of those who saw it, took it for the emblem of the K.K.K., while others believed it to be only the work of someone with a tendency to practical jokes. To the latter, the article in last week's Advance relative to the letter received giving the information that the K.K.K. had 300 members here, would suggest that following this item people would be ready to accept the burning cross as another proof of the presence in the Camp of the K.K.K. So far as known there have been no organizers here for the K.K.K., but the letter and the burning of the cross may be preliminaries to such an effort at organization. It is not likely, however, that there are many members of the Klan in the district, nor would it be a society likely to make a general appeal here. According to the usual newspaper accounts of K.K.K. activities in the U.S.A., the society has been active in helping enforce prohibition laws, and has also specially set itself against Catholics, Jews and those who may not be of the Caucasian Race. In the United States the Klan has been accused of taking the law into its own hands, and a number of cases of lawlessness have been charged against the Society. On this account, the Attorney-General of the Province some time ago said, that while there would be no interference with the K.K.K. in its organization work, so long as it kept within the law, any disorder or attempt to unlawfully administer laws of its own on the public would be severely dealt with. In other words the attitude of the Attorney-General was that so long as the K.K.K. went along without interference with the rights of others, it would be left alone the same as any other legitimate association, but if it proved to be what its detractors claimed,—lawless or offensive to others,—it would be sternly suppressed.

CLAIMED THAT WOMAN SOLD SHARES NOT HERS.

The Northern News last week had the following item of interest to many in this district:—

"A legal battle involving, among other things, the ownership of a large number of shares in the Porcupine Mutual Gold Mines and the Mikado Mines, has developed in Toronto over the estate of the late Arthur C. Smith, who died in the city last May, and who was manager of the Mutual Company. A matrimonial tangle also has to be straightened out, as it is alleged Smith had separated from his wife and was living with another woman. Now the Toronto General Trust Co. is suing the latter woman and also the mining company, and Mildred Rosenfield will have to account for many shares she is said to have sold, according to a decision of Mr. Justice Lennox, who referred the matter to the Master in Chambers. It is claimed that Mildred Rosenfield had wrongfully assumed the name of Mildred Smith, and plaintiffs also allege that Arthur Smith used the name Mildred Smith only as a nom de plume, and that he never had any intention of giving his property to the Rosenfield woman. According to the statement of claim, Smith married Helen Rooks Vosberg in Buffalo 27 years ago. They parted in 1912 and Smith afterwards lived with Mildred Rosenfield. It is claimed by plaintiff that up to the time of his death, or shortly before it, Smith owned a half million shares of Porcupine Mutual shares, and that he put all these in the name of Mildred Smith. He also owned 250,000 shares in the Mikado Mines, it is said. It is set out in the statement of claim that a year before he died Smith became a victim of pernicious anaemia, and that during his illness, and after his death, Mildred Rosenfield sold large quantities of the Mutual shares. Since Smith died, it is alleged, Mildred Rosenfield has procured S. Rosenfield, whom she claims as her brother, to take Smith's place as manager of the company."

A big, burly man called at the rectory, and asked to see the rector's wife, a woman well known for her charitable impulses.

"Madam," he said in a broken voice. "I wish to draw your attention to the terrible plight of a poor family in this district. The father is dead, the mother is too ill to work, and the nine children are starving. They are about to be turned into the cold streets unless someone pays their rent, which amounts to fifty dollars."

"How terrible!" exclaimed the lady. "May I ask who you are?"

The sympathetic visitor applied his handkerchief to his eyes. "I'm the landlord," he sobbed.

BRITISH ARE IMPRESSED BY MINES IN ONTARIO

Sir Wilfred Hamilton Grant Anxious to Create British-Canadian Market.

It is obviously in the interests of Canada, with its enormous mining possibilities, that British capital be attracted for development purposes," declared Sir Alfred Hamilton Grant of London, England, distinguished statesman and authority on mining, who was interviewed at Ottawa last week after inspecting various properties in Northern Ontario in which he is interested.

The object of the mining group with which he is connected was to create a real Anglo-Canadian market, he said. British capital interested in Canadian mining would be utilized in exploration, "taking the inevitable risks, but to establish equality of treatment."

The London market had had its trials during the last twelve months, Sir Alfred said, and there were other attractions just now, such as rubber. It was hoped, however, steadily to awaken interest in London in the great possibilities of Northern Ontario as an investment field for the British capital interested in mining.

THIRD RECENT ROBBERY AT GRAY'S DRUG STORE

Saturday evening late, or Sunday morning early, Gray's Drug Store, Wilson Ave. was burglarized. The chief loss was in fountain pens and Eversharp pencils taken, about $100 worth of goods in these lines being carried away. Some liquor was also missing when the burglary was discovered. Entry was made to the store through the fanlight over the window at the side of the building. As the opening is not very large, it would appear to be the work of a boy or boys, though it also seems evident that some adults must have assisted to help the smaller person through the fanlight window. This is the second time this method has been used recently to enter the store, and the third that the store has been burglarized in the past few weeks. The police are working on the case, and have some clues that may result in the discovery of the guilty party or parties.

OPENING PART OF TRUNK ROAD FROM SWASTIKA

The Hailyburian last week made the following reference in connection with the construction of the North Land Trunk Road:—

"A stretch of the trunk road to the north of Swastika is to be cleared and put under way for construction this fall. Tenders are now being called for the clearing of the right-of-way to a point some twenty-three miles north of Kenogami Lake. A portion of this is already cut out and will be cleared of stumps, the tenders asked for being for the stumping, grubbing and burning 33 feet in width from Swastika to a point about four miles north of Kenogami Lake. From this point the tenders asked are for the cutting and burning of a section of 13 miles, 66 feet in width, to a point in Benoit Township. All this work is to be finished before January 1st, 1926. This will make this stretch ready for grading next summer and will fill in a gap that has prevented motoring through to the more northerly parts of the district. Considerable progress has been made on the sections of the road between North Bay and Latchford and more will be done next summer, so that in the course of another year or two, we may expect the long looked for highway connecting Temiskaming and Cochrane Districts with the older parts of the province to be finally completed."

"I know where you can get a good chicken dinner for 15 cents."

"Where?" asked the epicurean.

"At the feed store."
