Heft it Once!
Then You Will Want One for Your Own Kitchen

The very feel of it will make you want to own it. It balances so nicely, seems to be just right. The handle is rigid and does not tip around like a hinged handle. That means no slipping, scalded hands or accidents. See how you fill it? You lift the hinged lid and can fill it right under the tap or by dipper because the opening is at the side, not the centre. Most important, these new up-to-date kettles cost no more than the old fashioned kettle.

PIECES OF WHEEL THROWN OVER A QUARTER OF MILE

Sawing Machine Wheel Bursts. One Piece Goes Through Roof. No One Injured

On Thursday last the wheel of a sawing machine in operation in the Mattagami section burst and the pieces of the saw were thrown considerable distances. One piece went through the side of a garage near the river. Still another piece fell near Gray's drug store. Fortunately no one was hurt, though in each case of the three large pieces that went such distances there was only luck to save people nearby. One boy was standing near Gray's store when the piece of wheel struck the road tossing stones and dust into the air. The boy's first thought was that it was not a good place for him at that time, and so he could get away quickly. His second thought was that stones and dust were falling from the sky. The lad apparently was a quick thinker. When the dust had settled he went and investigated, finding the piece of the sawing wheel embedded in the road. In the case of the piece going through the roof, there was also a narrow escape from injury to one of the inmates of the house.

CUP PRESENTED FOR SENIOR BASKETBALL

Team Winning This Trophy for Three Years Will Hold Same

Mr. L. Towers has kindly donated a handsome cup to Senior Basketball for competition. A team winning the cup for three years will hold same. This season there is unusual interest in basketball, and the fine new trophy will no doubt add further to the interest and the keenness of competition between the various teams in the league.

The season is now away to a good start and a big basketball season is confidently expected. Senior Basketball may naturally occupy the premier position, but the Junior teams are also going strong and playing very interesting matches. It might add further to the attention to Junior Basketball if some other good sport would come forward with a Junior Championship Trophy.

MR. GEO. MAKIN TAKES OVER SCHROEDER STUDIO

Owing to ill-health Mr. H. F. Schroeder has been compelled to discontinue his work here as director of the Conservatory of Music. Mr. Geo. Makin has taken up Mr. Schroeder's work, with the highest recommendation by Mr. Schroeder, and those who know Mr. Makin will agree that the recommendation is well merited. Mr. Makin is a violinist of well-known ability, having been on the theatre orchestras here for years with special satisfaction to the public, and also giving other musical services, in the Timmins 'Citizens' Band and elsewhere, showing himself a musician of decided talent and ability. He has had an unusually wide experience and will no doubt do well in his new work.

ANOTHER WOLF STORY FROM SAULT STE. MARIE, ONT.

Toronto newspapers are determined to have the wolves of the North ferocious and man-eating. When the despatches fail to make the wolves attack humans, the trick is done by head-lines. Old-timers of the North yet wait a single authenticated case where a wolf ever attacked a man in this Northern Land,—except in a despatch, or a head-line.

Toronto newspapers last week had such head-lines as "Saw Wolves Attack Guide in Algoma," "Priest Rescues Guide From Ferocious Wolves," etc. The despatches beneath these headings, however, do not bear out the idea of the head-lines. Indeed, the despatches rather prove the contention of old-timers that a single wolf or several wolves together will not attack a human being who is awake and lively, but will rather make speedy tracks the other way when faced.

In the latest "wolf story" a priest has been dragged into the story to give the old yarns new dignity. The despatches are dated, "Sault Ste Marie," and read as follows:—"Another incident has been added to the tales in connection with the old controversy as to whether wolves will attack a human being. Father O. T. McGuinn, of Grand Rapids, on his yearly hunting trip here reports seeing wolves near Glendale, seemingly on the point of attacking Billy Soulier, of Garden River, who was acting as his guide.

Father McGuinn had shot a fine moose in a swamp and they were cutting a trail to make it possible for the horse to drag the animal out. He was a little in advance of Soulier when he heard the latter shout and turning around saw several wolves around the guide, who had only his axe. With only a couple of bullets in his rifle, Father McGuinn was aiming at one which was circling around when Soulier drew his attention to one, a scant 25 feet from him. Father McGuinn sighted on this one, but something frightened the wolves and they disappeared on the run.

With the ferocious wolf yarns fairly well discredited now, the latest daily newspaper trick now is to accuse moose of being specially wild this year. Despatches cite supposed cases of vicious attacks by big moose on hunters from the far South. If these are true then likely the following is also a fact. A man from Timmins went south a couple of years ago on a moose hunt near North Bay. He shot at a particularly big moose that had a great pride in his own fine looks. All the shot accomplished was to disfigure one ear of that moose, spoiling the handsome appearance of the animal. Last year the moose overheard other hunters talking of the incident, and the moose thus learned the man's name and address. The lordly moose this year travelled through the bush to Timmins, dragged the guilty man out of bed one night, and kicked him severely in the face. Anyone doubting this story can be shown snow similar to that which might have covered up the moose's tracks. Or the doubting one can read The Toronto Star regularly for six months, and then he will believe any old thing.

When Bakeday Comes Depend on Carnation

Uncertainties ruin many a milk dish through absolutely no fault of your own.

You want whole milk—you have only the skimmed milk left after you took the cream from the top; you should have two cups—you just have a cup and a half. Milk you thought fresh is just on the turn.

Why take those risks? Insure with Carnation Milk.

Carnation is just pure, fresh milk, evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Nothing is added. Some of the natural water is taken away—all the food value left in.

Get it from your grocer. Tall (16 oz.) cans or by the case of 48 cans.
