

Iroquois Falls Wins Fourth in Series by Score of 3 to 1

Crowd Much Displeased With Work of Referee. Ice Invaded as Match Ends and Attempt Made to Assault Referee. Referee Spoiled the Game but Falls Team Showed the Better Hockey on the Play.

For the first time, and it is to be hoped the only time, a referee was attacked on Timmins ice, when last Thursday night, at the conclusion of the fourth game in the Northern series of the N. O. H. A., and incidentally the fourth defeat of the Porcupine sextette, about one hundred spectators crowded onto the ice and attempted to beat up referee W.

Bousquet for his decisions during the match just concluded. Though it is admitted that Bousquet was about as incompetent a referee Timmins fans have had the privilege to see, no excuse can be made for the unsportsmanlike attack made on him as the gong rang. Lever, the Falls centre man, had received a butt-end on the temple which was unnoticed by the referee, and he was on the ice nearly a half minute before Bousquet rang his bell to investigate, and just then the gong rang, the game was over, and Bousquet started for the exit, which was not open yet for the players to leave the ice, and in the next half-minute about one hundred angry fans, forgetting the finer traditions of British sport, invaded the rink, and it was only with the appearance of the town police that quiet was restored.

With a large number of Iroquois Falls fans, who came over on the special train, well over a thousand people witnessed the fourth game of the junior series last Thursday evening at the Timmins Rink. Timmins fans confidently expected that this match would break the jinx of defeats which has followed the blue and gold sextette since the series opened, but were disappointed.

Teevin, the Timmins player who was injured in the game at North Bay, made his initial appearance, and it can't be said he came up to expectations. Though this may be excused by the fact that he could not be in such good condition as if he had played in all the matches. In the first period, for butt-ending the referee he drew a five-minute penalty, which was deserved for this offense. Players have to learn that the referee is in charge of the game. Levine in goal put up a good game, the three goals the Falls got in on him being practically impossible to stop. Greco and Couture both worked hard, and time after time called on Mills to make spectacular saves. Lawrence turned in a whale of a game, showing great improvement over previous appearances. Charlebois had the Falls team guessing, and it was only the uncanny skill of Mills which prevented him scoring more than once. Ganton tried hard all night, but was closely watched. Boyd was not used much, but while on the ice did not have to take a back seat among any of his team mates.

For the Papermakers, Mills was easily the star of the team. He is about the best goal-tender in the North and it was his skilful work, which kept the score down. Fillman played a good game. Rowan is inclined to be rather short tempered, but is worth watching. Lever, the Falls centre man, is a dangerous checker, and packs a wicked shot. McIntyre, though playing hard, carries too high a stick, and, with good refereeing would not get away with the butt-ending he carried on consistently Thursday night. Duffy was off-side for the biggest part of the game, and should have spent some time in the penalty box for this offense. Trotter and Smith both worked hard, and contributed to their team's success.

W. Bousquet, of Iroquois Falls, was referee. Considerable dissatisfaction was expressed at his performance of this duty a week ago last Thursday, and a great many of the fans were surprised to see him on the ice last week. The redeeming feature of his refereeing two weeks ago—that he was fair in the last two periods—was lacking last Thursday night. Though the Falls had the best of the play, combining better than the Timmins team, the incompetence of the referee, and his failure to penalize Falls players for offences Timmins men drew two minutes for, contributed in a large measure to the success of the Papermakers last week. However, if it was not for the unsportsmanlike action of a section of the spectators in attacking him, he could come in for stronger condemnation, but this act puts Timmins hockey fans in a bad light, and arouses sympathy for the injured referee.

The teams were:— Iroquois Falls—Mills, goal; Fillman and Rowan, defence; Lever, centre; McIntyre and Duffy, forwards; Trotter and Smith, spares.

Timmins—Levine, goal; Greco and Couture, defence; Teevin, centre; Lawrence and Ganton, forwards; Charlebois and Boyd, spares.

Referee—W. Bousquet, Iroquois Falls.

Timekeepers—J. E. Patterson, Iroquois Falls, E. Desormeaux, Timmins. Penalty Timekeepers—A. Kerr, Iroquois Falls, E. Patterson, Timmins.

Goal Umpires—Rev. Fr. Theriault, Timmins; Constable J. Cushing, Schumacher.

The game opened mid-ice play being the order of the night, but it speedily steadied down, and the fans settled back to expect a fast game. The Timmins forward line went in, in a three-man combination, but failed to pass the Iroquois Falls defence. The tri-coloured Papermakers transferred the play to the Timmins end, and Levine was called on to make three saves in quick succession. Greco transferred the play, and sent a fast one in, which was wide of its mark. McIntyre got the puck, and started down, but lost at mid-ice to Ganton, who went in alone and called on Mills to save. Rowan took the puck and passed to Duffy who was off-side, the referee stopping the game and warning McIntyre for attempting a butt-end. Teevin went down with the puck trying a long high one, which was easy for Mills. Play remained in the Falls territory for a minute until McIntyre broke away, and going the full length of the rink, scored for the Falls, the period being five minutes old. The Miners took the offensive, Greco going in, and passing to Lawrence, but play stopped for off-side. The Falls came down in a three-man combination but failed to pass the Timmins defence. Greco drew the first penalty of the game when he went to the box for butt-ending Rowan. Duffy passed to Lever, in a scrimmage in front of the Timmins net, the little Falls centre man kicking the puck into the net. The light went on, but the goal was disputed, and not allowed. Rowan came down alone and went in on Levine, but failed to bulge the net behind the Timmins goaltender. The game developed into a ragged exhibition of hockey at this time, with the Papermakers having the edge. Teevin passed to Ganton, who shot wide, from outside the defence. Timmins held the play near the Falls net, Ganton trying another shot at Mills who was lucky to save. Charlebois evened the count, when he went in and scored on a lone effort. The goal was disputed, Rev. Fr. Theriault taking his place. The goal was finally allowed. Charlebois went in again but did not get through. Teevin drew the second Timmins penalty, when Bousquet saw him resenting a slash across the ankle received at the Falls defence. The Timmins centre man, showed poor judgment in resenting the referee's decision, and drew a five-minute rest, when he gave Bousquet a jab with his stick. Greco and Couture went in, but Mills saved. Lever came down, but failed to pass Levine. McIntyre was showing the effects of being closely watched, carrying a high stick, and specializing on butt-ends, seeming to be able to get away with this offence at will, drawing only one warning from Bousquet. Fillman went in on a solo effort, but did not get by Levine. Lawrence transferred the play and just as the gong rang, brought Mills to his knees to save. Iroquois Falls 1 Timmins 1.

The second period opened at 9:25 p.m. with the Porcupine sextette on the offensive, Mills going full length on the ice to save. The Papermakers switched the play, Duffy drawing a warning for persistently loafing. Duffy went in but Levine made a nice save. Ganton tried a long one at the Falls net, which was easily saved by Mills. Duffy was loafing a lot, but was able to get away with it. Lever was proving himself dangerous by his consistent checking and his ability to break up the Timmins forwards combination. Charlebois went in stickhandling through the Falls defence, but over skated the puck, and lost a good chance. Lever went in on a lone effort, when the period was nearly three minutes old, and scored. Iroquois Falls 2. Right after he got the puck, but was off-side. Teevin was sent to the box for an enforced rest, when he threw the puck. Couture came down alone, but the game was held up for an off-side, when the Miners were in on the Falls goal, with only Mills to beat and fair prospects of doing that. Teevin went down, but was tripped. Rowan went down, but lost at the Timmins defence. The Miners took the offensive, and pressed hard.

Duffy finally drew a penalty for off-side loafing. Another penalty was nearly handed out, when Timmins were changing subs, but when the matter was explained the referee let the game go on. McIntyre tried a long shot, but Levine saved. Fillman came in, but failed to get by the Timmins defence. Smith came down alone, but Levine saved. The play was roughing up, the Papermakers holding the play in Porcupine territory. Ganton was sent to the box for tripping. The gong rang, with the Falls one goal up.

The third period started at 10:01 p.m., with Timmins on the offensive, but they were checked on an off-side pass. Lever sent one in, the puck being wide of its mark. Ganton went down and shot, Teevin skated in for the rebound, but Mills saved in first-class manner. Couture went to the box for cross-checking Lever. Teevin joined him, but what his offence was is not apparent. With the Miners shy two men, the Eskimos made a desperate offensive, but did not get by Levine. The Papermakers were using their weight freely, and getting away with trips and butt-ends, and the inability of the referee to see any of the numerous Falls offences was getting under the 'hide' of the fans, and an ugly note was noticed in the hissing Bousquet was receiving. Teevin signaled his re-appearance on the ice by calling on Mills to make a sensational save. The blue and gold were working hard to equalize but showed poor team work. Charlebois and Boyd went in, the former making a good try for a goal, but missed. Duffy was again showing up well as an inside home player. Teevin was tripped. Ganton went in, Mills going full length on the ice to save. Ganton went to the box for tripping. Charlebois joining him. Bousquet showed poor judgment in both these decisions, especially as Teevin and Greco had both been tripped in the same manner, and no penalties were handed out. With the locals shy two men, the Falls again staged a desperate offensive but did not get by Levine. McIntyre drew the second Falls penalty for holding the puck. Greco took the puck and stick-handled his way through the whole Falls team, only to be beaten by Mills. The guardian of the Falls citadel was playing a great game, and was worth any two of his team mates. The Miners were desperate, and the whole Falls team were playing a close home defence. Teevin was tripped, just as he got in position to shoot. McIntyre came in on a solo effort, and with the period in the dying seconds of the seventeenth minute, put the Falls one more goal to the lead. Ganton went to the box for bodying, this made nine penalties handed to the Miners, against two Falls penalties. When coming back up the ice, Lever was given an unwarranted butt-end this being unnoticed by the referee, the Falls player lying on the ice for nearly an half of a minute before Bousquet's attention was directed to him. The referee then rang his bell, and skated down the ice to investigate, and while play was stopped, the time gong rang, though the game could not have been over, and Bousquet started for the exit, the crowd invaded the ice, and in the melee none could swear who attacked the referee.
