Free from Chronic Constipation and Headaches. Finds Only Cure in Dr. Watson's Tonic

About nine months ago, I was so run down in health that I despaired of recovery. I suffered constantly from constipation and headaches. I lost all faith in medicine, as any relief from them was only temporary. A friend of mine who had experienced similar troubles to my own recommended Dr. Watson's Tonic, as it had cured him of his troubles.

I commenced taking it forthwith and am pleased to bear testimony to its wonderful efficiency. I am clear of headaches, my bowels are regular, my appetite is good, and I owe it as a duty to my fellow-sufferers to recommend its use.

Very respectfully yours,

DEATH OF MR. W. HAYDEN, PRESIDENT OF HAYDEN MINE.

Last week innumerable friends in this part of the North Land heard with the sincerest regret of the death at his home in Batavia, N. Y., of Mr. William Henry Hayden, President of the Hayden Mine, Deloro Township, Porcupine District. At the time of death the late Mr. Hayden was in his 68th year, having been born in Brooklyn, N. Y., on August 31st, 1858. Death was due to influenza. Mr. Hayden was ill only a few days. He had been in poor health some months ago, but had apparently recovered. He had not, however, been restored to his old-time vigour, and the attack of influenza proved too much for him to withstand, following the previous severe illness some months ago. The late Mr. Hayden visited Timmins and the Hayden mine during the holiday season, and while not perhaps in his usual health was certainly in his regular good spirits and optimistic mood, seeing great prospects ahead for the Hayden property, to which he has given so much devotion. The late Mr. Hayden was widely known in this part of the North, being one of the pioneer mining men in the Porcupine area. He had great faith in this country and was responsible for many coming to invest and to reside. He was always optimistic, friendly and a gentleman and he will be long remembered for his many fine traits of character. He was a mining engineer who brought capital of his own and of his friends and acquaintances to develop claims in this camp. He centered his chief efforts and interest in the mine that bears his name and of which he was president and managing director. A week or two before his death he was in the Porcupine and had then completed final plans for the ample financing of the Hayden property to bring it to the producing stage. He believed that in the Hayden mine he had one of the most promising properties in this district. A widow and two sons are left to mourn his loss, and to these the Porcupine Camp extends sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

The sixth annual Burns Banquet under the auspices of the Caledonian Society of Timmins will be held in the Empire Hotel on Monday evening, Jan. 25th, the 167th anniversary of the birth of the great Scottish poet. An unusually good programme has been arranged.

SAULT STE MARIE HOCKEY PLAYERS TURNING "PRO."

Hockey fans in this district will be interested in the following despatch from Sault Ste. Marie last week:—

"After six seasons with the Sault Greyhounds, 'Bill' Philips, has at last listened to the money call and leaves to join the Montreal Maroons. Bill will get $7,000 for finishing the present season with the Montreal team and his contract includes two more seasons, three in all for a total of $16,000. It is strongly rumored in the city that Babe Donnelly is to follow Philips in the course of a week, but the Babe will neither deny nor confirm the report. Bill played his last amateur game against the Duluth Hornets on the 12th putting up a stellar game, probably the best of his career, until benched with Jamieson in the middle of the third period for renewing a fist fight for which the two had been banished."

SIR ALEXANDER MCKENZIE AND FOREST FIRES HERE (From Forest and Outdoors)

The only authentic records of early forest devastation by fire, are those compiled by the early explorers and fur traders. Sir Alexander McKenzie in his long journey from Montreal to the mouth of the McKenzie River, and again to the Pacific Ocean, while faithfully noting the condition of the country through which he travelled, mentions only thirteen places where the forests had been destroyed by fire. This affords a remarkable comparison with present day fire records.

According to the report of the commission of Conservation, British Columbia, which possesses the greatest stand of saw timber of any Province in the Dominion, lost 650 billion board feet of timber through forest fires during the past century. This is approximately twice the amount of the present stand in B. C.

British Columbia averages about 2500 forest fires per year, of which 86% are due to human agencies. Compare this record with Sir Alexander McKenzie's report for the whole of Canada from Montreal to the Pacific Coast, and it is safe to predict, that anyone following the route traversed by that intrepid explorer today, would hardly lose sight of burned areas.

MR. W. PREST, SCHUMACHER NOT THE ONE REFERRED TO

Last week in the police court items there was one referring to a W. Prest being allowed a suspended sentence on a theft charge. Some thoughtless people went out of their way to confuse this W. Prest, with Mr. W. Prest, a highly-esteemed young man of Schumacher. Of course, there was no reference to the Schumacher gentleman in the item, the W. Prest concerned being a man of middle age drifting here from the south and working for a time at Jones' camp. The W. Prest, of Schumacher, is not even acquainted with the other Prest, let alone related, the W. Prest in the police court case coming from the far south where he said he had relatives living in more than one state of the Union.

BY CHIMINIS WE'LL GET ALL ABOUT CHIMINIS YET.

Some weeks ago The New Liskeard Speaker said that Chiminis, the terminal point on the T. & N.O.'s projected line to the Rouyn gold field, was named after the nearby mountain. "Why was the mountain so named?" The Advance asked. The Speaker replied by giving the correct way to spell "Chimimis." But the Advance persisted in wanting to know why the mountain was so named. The Speaker responded with interesting data about the origin and appearance of the mountain, with incidental references to historical facts about the naming of New Liskeard and Temiskaming. But still The Advance kept asking "But why was the mountain named Chiminis?" Last week The Speaker came mighty close to answering,—perhaps, indeed, did truly answer. Here is what The Speaker says:—

"We thought when we wrote our reply to the request of The Advance asking why the mountain was called 'Chimimis,' we had said all we had to say or could say, and that the matter was at an end; but The Speaker last week was no sooner off the press than our townman and pioneer prospector, Mr. Murdie McLeod, assured us that we were altogether off. Said he, 'Chimimis' is an Indian word meaning 'an island surrounded by land,' or in other words, 'an inland island.' The idiom reminds one of late Principal Grant's reference to British Columbia as a 'sea of mountains.' The saying was first attributed to the late Edward Blake, but claimed by Grant. On making further inquiries, we had various versions. Prof. Sharp was told when he visited Larder Lake, that the mountain seen so plainly from the lake, was named by the French, 'Chimimis,' because of its appearance to a chimney. Of course, the Professor gave the matter no further thought. His son, George, however, thinks it is an Indian word, as also does Mr. Dupuis, of the George Taylor Hardware, who says he understood it was named in memory of an Indian chief. But the Rev. Father Paquin says, while he can find nothing in the French to indicate why the mountain should be called 'Chimimis' or 'Cheminis,' still the word has a French pronunciation. So here we shall leave the question unsolved; and if any one should ask why all the fuss, our reply must be that this Chiminis is no molehill, but a real honest-to-goodness mountain—the only mountain in the North Land. Hamilton, Fort William and Montreal each have a mountain. Why not 'Chimimis,' the embryo border town at the end of the T. & N. O. Ry. east.

A WARNING AGAINST WILDCATS FROM NORTH

Wolves may not attack human beings, but beware the wildcat! Especially, watch out for one particular species of wildcat, the smooth-skinned kind that will likely leave you skinned as smooth. With the increased interest in mining in the North the wildcat becomes prevalent. The wildcat is the biggest foe to legitimate prospectors. The Toronto Star last week on its financial page had a few timely nature notes on the habits and undesirability of the wildcat. The Star said:—

"A warning was sounded this week to look out for wildcats. Some of our friends didn't like us suggesting that pussy had come out to her corner. She may not have started any fights on the back fence yet but her hair is all standing up and her tail wagging. In other words, we are entering a period when the same thing is going to happen as happened when Northern Ontario was opened up fifteen or twenty years ago. A lot of boys with brilliantine on their hair and diamond necktie pins are going to be ringing door bells and asking the good wife to put her savings in some new Quebec mine, which he will show her on the map. Don't fall for this stuff if you like your savings."

"One of the strongest curbs on such promotions ought to be the stock exchange. It's none of our business but we hope for the sake of the country and the public that the exchange will discourage the listing or trading of new stocks which have whiskers like the wild pussies peddled from door to door. Promoters should be asked to show their medals. Exchange authorities can easily satisfy themselves whether enough actual work has been done to make a mine a possibility, whether the management are honest and whether there is enough money on hand for development within a couple of years."

Mr. Jas. M. Woods ("Happy") returned last week to Schumacher after an extended visit to the Old Country, where he visited centres of interest in England and Scotland.
