UKRANIAN NIGHTINGALE TO SING HERE TO-NIGHT

Leading Ukranian Soprano in Canada Makes Big Hit With Music-lovers in this Camp.

Miss Lily Popovitch, whom music-lovers say is most aptly described by the phrase, "the Ukranian Nightingale," is visiting friends in this district. Recently she sang at South Porcupine and at Schumacher and the beauty of her voice and the finish of her presentation of classical and other selections made an unusual impression upon all lovers of music who had the pleasure of hearing her. "A wonderful voice," said one local musician. "The finest singing I have heard for years," said another. "It is a privilege to hear such a singer," said a third. This gifted singer who has made a sensation in the musical world will sing at a concert in the New Empire Theatre this (Thursday) evening. She will be accompanied by Mr. Geo. Hale. Mr. Pyper, tenor, will also sing and there will be several violin solos and other numbers.

MR. H. F. SCHROEDER TO BE HERE TWO DAYS EACH WEEK

As will be noted by the advertisement elsewhere in this issue, Mr. H. F. Schroeder, now of Kirkland Lake, but formerly one of the leading teachers of music in this camp, will spend two days each week in Timmins and will accept a limited number of pupils on the violin and piano.

NOW A GOOD TIME TO BUY PINEAPPLES FOR CANNING

"It is always hard to get housekeepers to start to buy pineapples for canning," Mr. W. Nicholson told The Advance this week. "It is one of the fruits they seem to hold back about," he added, "and the result is that sometimes they wait too long and miss altogether this very desirable and delicious fruit." Mr. Nicholson says that the price is now as low as it will be, and so the present seems to be a good time to buy pineapples for canning. In an advertisement elsewhere in this issue the Gamble Robinson, of Timmins, Limited, who are wholesale fruit distributors, recommend the purchase this week of pineapples for canning purposes.

BICYCLE RIDING A MENACE ON THE ROADS THESE DAYS

At the present time both motorists and pedestrians are complaining about the menace of the boys on bicycles. The pedestrian feels that the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks is a menace to the limbs and life of every person using the walks. The sidewalks is very evidently no place for the boy on a bicycle, and the law is quite right in stopping the use of the walks for bicycling. For the safety of the public this is one of the laws that needs enforcement. Motorists claim, on the other hand, that the boy on a bicycle on the road is not only a danger to himself but also to the general public and the motorist in particular. This is especially true at night. It seems a pity that it should be necessary to restrict the use of bicycles on the roads, but it is hard to see how the wheels can be permitted to continue to use the roads, unless a great deal more of common sense and carefulness is shown. Unless there is some sort of a change the use of bicycles on the road is going to mean further tragedy. Parents should make a note of this. It is no idle thing to say that the lives of their children are endangered by present practices in regard to bicycling on the roads. Boys have a habit of suddenly shooting by an automobile without any warning, and without real knowledge of what may be ahead. They persist in riding in front of moving autos, in turning corners recklessly and in other practices that menace the safety of themselves and others. The failure of most of the bicycles to carry lights at night is also a fruitful source of danger. Boys also have recently acquired the prenicious habit of running back and forth on their wheels in the sections where motor traffic is the heaviest. Everybody is anxious to give the boys a chance, but few are content to sit back and let that chance be only a chance to injure themselves or others. Parents should take up the whole question of boys on bicycles on the roads of today, and see that everything is done to make everything as safe as possible for the boys and for others. Unless something is done to change the present undesirable conditions, tragedy will inevitably result. Only luck has avoided such tragedy so far.

Mr. T. J. McCarra returned last week from Toronto, where he had been taking his final course in pharmacy. He was successful in his examinations, and is now back again in his place at F. M. Burke's Drug Store, where he has always been popular and efficient.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES ON THE BRITISH STRIKE

Miss Beekie Buhay, of Montreal, a noted speaker on labour questions, addressed a meeting here in the New Empire Theatre on Wednesday evening last, her topic being the general strike in Britain. Miss Buhay paid special attention to the hours, wages and conditions of the British coal. On Sunday evening at the Maple Leaf miners and took up the labour situation in Britain from their viewpoint. Theatre, Schumacher, Miss Buhay addressed another gathering on the same subject. The meetings were well attended and very interesting.

NEW LISKEARD BUSINESS PLACES BURGLARIZED.

In the past few weeks there have been several small burglaries and petty thefts in Timmins, though nothing of any particular moment has been stolen and no serious damage done. However, the petty thefts are irritating and annoying. If misery does love company, as the old saying suggests, then there will be particular interest in the following paragraph from the last issue of The New Liskeard Speaker:—

"Last Saturday night the store of Mr. Wismer and the store and shop of Mr. R. W. Wood were broken into and cash and liquor taken away from the former and cash from the latter. Entrance was made into the Wismer store by breaking the glass in the west-end cellar window, and then raising the iron bars. This enabled the burglars to enter the cellar. They then raised a trap-door and entered the store. Near this trap-door is a box in which liquor is kept. They must have known what the box contained, because they smashed it open and took away perhaps ten bottles of liquor, and about twenty dollars which were in two tills. One of these tills was torn from the counter, and carried to the rear and broken open. It appears that this was all they could carry, so they came back a second time evidently for a large bottle of alcohol; but Mr. J. A. Miller, who lives above the store, hearing the noise had got up and went to a back window. Seeing the parties coming back he shouted, and they ran away. The same night burglars raised a window at the rear of Wood's Beauty Parlours, entered the premises, and then took about ten dollars from the cash box. We believe this is the fourth time that Mr. Wismer's store has been burglarized, and Mr. Wood, also, had twenty dollars taken from his cash box by burglars on a previous occasion. The burglars will be anxious to see The Speaker this week; and let us say to them that if they have no respect for themselves, they should at least have some respect for their parents. No person, old or young, can commit such acts and "get away with it." They may not be found out even though circumstantial evidence may be strong against them; but they can never get away from their conscience, and sooner or later they will be very sorry for their misdoings."

Last week for the second time within two months death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNaught, Haileybury, when their daughter, Arva, aged two years, succumbed to pneumonia. A young son of the family died recently.

WORK TO RESUME ON THE THREE NATIONS CLAIMS

Report That Operations Will Resume. Now Owned by Porcupine Grande

Reports are in circulation to the effect that the Three Nations Mine will be re-opened this summer, probably in June or July. The Three Nations property is held by the Porcupine Grande Gold Mines, Limited. A correspondent writing to The Sudbury Star last week says: "The Porcupine Grande, formerly the property of the Three Nations Mining Company, from which its popular name was derived, consists of sixteen claims in the vicinity of Three Nations lake. It was explored prior to its purchase by the Porcupine Grande by a shaft and cross cutting at 100 and 200 feet from which sufficient ore was taken to run a small stamp mill. The vein was traceable on the surface for a distance of about 300 feet but was found to be cut off to the southwest by some banded slates. Later the Coniagas Mines, Limited, did considerable exploratory work by means of a series of diamond drill holes located along the keewatin-temiskaming contact. It is claimed that very favorable results were obtained and an entirely new ore body was discovered. As this is reported to have been intersected for fifteen feet and carried $9 ore for that width it is probable that the object of the present negotiations is to further explore and develop this territory. A good plant is maintained on the property including a 75-horse power steam hoist, pumps, five-drill compressor and a mill of 100 tons capacity."

FOOTBALL MATCHES FOR THE COMING WEEK OR TWO

The following are the matches scheduled in the Porcupine District Football League for the next week or so:—

To-night (Thursday, May 20th.) Hollinger Recreation Football Club vs. Hollinger. This is expected to be one of the most keenly-contested games of the season.
Tuesday, May 25th, Cornish One-and-All vs. Town A.
Thursday, May 27th, Lancashires vs. McIntyre.
All matches start at 6.15 p.m.
All the above matches are at the Timmins Athletic grounds.

PREDICTS USE OF NORTH LAND COAL NEXT WINTER

In an address to the Conservative Club at Toronto last week Col. J. A. Currie, M.P.P., declared that citizens of Toronto, in common with those of other parts of the Province, will be burning coal from Northern Ontario this coming winter, instead of the anthracite coal from the United States or the Western coal from Alberta. Col. Currie emphasized the fact that within the past few weeks geologists had greatly changed their opinions regarding the existence of coal in this North. Previously they had held to the opinion that coal was not found here. Now, their whole question was whether the coal they admitted did exist in this North was here in sufficiently large quantities to make mining it a profitable commercial enterprise. Col. Currie thought there was coal enough in the North Land to assure some good coal mines. The prospectors, at any event, are very bright along this line, and the chances seem to be that the North Land, which has done so much to steady Ontario in recent years through its gold and silver mines is now going to assure further prosperity through its coal deposits in the far north.
