

Here and There

The recently organized egg and poultry pool in Saskatchewan has 17,000 members. Egg production in that province is 33,672,263 dozen yearly. Saskatchewan is now the second largest poultry producing province in Canada, Ontario being first.

St. Catharines—The North American celery championship has been awarded to James Little of this city by the American Vegetable Growers' Association, convening in Cleveland. The high quality of Canadian celery has long been recognized and this new triumph is expected to further stimulate production.

The Australian Cricket Team, heroes of five test matches against England this summer, arrived in Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner Montrose, October 8th. After visiting some of the principal cities in Canada and the United States, the team proceeded to Vancouver where they sailed on M.S. Aorangi for their homes in Australia, October 21st.

For the third year in succession the McAdam First Aid Team from New Brunswick carried off the "Grand Challenge Trophy," emblematic of the eastern lines first aid championship of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The competition was held recently at the Place Viger Hotel in Montreal, four other teams from points east of Fort William competing.

The oldest employee of the Canadian Pacific Railway in point of service, Isaac Gouverneur Ogen, vice-president in charge of finance, celebrated his 82nd birthday October 10th. He has served the Company for 44 years and his business experience goes back to the Civil War days. Mr. Ogen was the recipient of felicitations from all parts of the Dominion.

General Booth, head of the Salvation Army, sailed recently from Vancouver on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada for Japan. The General will tour Japan, China and Korea. True to his maxim of not touching food for two days previous to a sea voyage, the General contented himself with sipping a little hot water while attending to his correspondence and waiting for the liner to sail.

Toronto—The New York Times is about to invest $25,000,000 in northern Ontario for the production of all of its newsprint—about 550 tons a day. The announcement of this project was made by the secretary of the president, Adolf Ochs, during the sojourn of both in this city. The site selected for the paper plant is at Kapuskasing where there is already a small sulphite mill in operation. The water power, 75,000 h.p., will be generated from Smoky Falls.

Thirty students from Oxford and Wye Agricultural College, Kent, England, returned home on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare recently after having assisted in the harvesting of the Saskatchewan crop. These young men were brought out to the Dominion by the Department of Colonization and Development of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and placed on selected Saskatchewan farms by the Women's British Immigration League. The students are resuming their studies in England this fall.

G. Walter Booth, Prosecuting Attorney for the State of Ohio, in an interview in the tourist department of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Montreal recently, stated that American hunters were choosing Canadian hunting grounds in place of those in the United States practically without exception. Americans, he said, were taking one hundred per cent. interest in Canadian game resorts. Mr. Booth is at present in Canada on his annual duck hunt near Winnipeg, and also a big game trip in north-western Quebec.

LAUGHS FROM EXCHANGES

Every one can boost his batting average by, once in a while making a sacrifice hit.

Father: "This hurts me more than it does you."
Son: "Good—then keep it up."

Book: "What brand of cigarettes do you smoke?"
Joek: "I dinna ken. I'm tae polite tae ask."

Mother: "Go wash your face and neck."
Schoolboy: "Neck who?"

Him: "When 'U' and 'I' are one dear, there'll only be 25 letters in the alphabet."

Co-ed (to Co-ed): "What's wrong? You act like an accident looking for a place to happen."

"Thish match won't light."
"Washa madda with it?"
"I dunno—it lit all right a minute ago."

"I'm a father!" cried young Jones as he burst into the office.
"So's your old man," replied the boss. "Get to work."—Jack-o'-Lantern.

A Boston woman when asked by an insurance doctor if there was any insanity in the family replied:
"N-no; only my husband imagines he's the head of the house."

"When did you first become acquainted with your husband?"
"The first time I asked him for money after we were married."

Judge: Why did you run down this man in broad daylight on a perfectly straight stretch of road?
Prisoner: Your Honor, my windshield was almost totally obscured with safety-first stickers—Ohio Northern Review.

She: Penny for your thoughts.
Norm Frank: I was just thinking of going.

Her father (at the head of the stairs): Give him a half a dollar, Edna; it's worth it.

"Here's my bill," said the surgeon. "Wish you would pay down $100 and then $25 per week."
"Sounds like buying an automobile," said the patient.
"I am," said the surgeon.

Judge: You are charged with pushing your wife out the window.
Prisoner: It was in a moment of wild rage your honor.

Judge: That may be so, but can't you see the danger you imposed on anyone who might be passing?

One of Irvin Cobb's stories concerns an appraiser who was sent to a home to appraise the contents. The entries in his book halted when he came to a table on which was a full bottle of old Scotch.

Then the entries continued:
"One bottle Scotch whisky, half full."
The next entry was:
"One revolving Turkish rug."

The late William Archer, the English critic and dramatist, visited America during the run of his one and only success, "The Green Goddess," and a lady at tea asked him how he liked out country. He answered:

"Your efficiency amazes me. There was a funeral the other day out in Arizona, in the town of Hot Dog, and while the minister was preaching the funeral sermon two shots were fired in quick succession in the street outside.

"The undertaker tiptoed forth. In a minute or two he tiptoed back again with a bland smile on his face. 'I secured both them funerals,' he whispered to the chief mourner."

CANADA'S FLOUR MILLS

A mill at Annapolis, N.S., occupies the same site as the first flour mill in Canada, erected in 1605. A Canadian flour mill with a daily capacity of 14,000 barrels is now the largest in the British Empire. The daily capacity of 1,333 Canadian flour and grist mills according to the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa, is 128,225 barrels of flour.

CANADIAN NUTS

Interest in the much neglected nut-growing industry of Canada is likely to grow as its possibilities become better known. Besides the native nut trees (black walnut, white walnut or butternut, shagbark hickory, sweet chestnut and hazel) foreign varieties, such as English or Persian walnut, Chinese walnut, European chestnut, hardshell almonds and filberts are recommended by the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa for beauty and use in suitable districts.

"DAD"

Every time I see the motto, "God Bless Our Home," I just can't help thinking of the man who furnished the shingles over that home—of the man who holds the butcher off with his little green roll—of the man who hauls out ashes and brings home the bacon—Dad.

Dad is the man who buys the turkey, who carves the turkey—and for all his expense and trouble he draws the neck and a wing.

When a burglar is in the cellar it's Dad who gets a kick in the back. When company comes, Dad he fidgets like a puppy chewing a string.

When Dad carves he is as clumsy as a woman in a side saddle. When he wants to smoke he is sent to the woodshed.

But with all Dad's faults, there is something about him we all love. Dad is as steady as a hay-wagon; as certain as the drip from a loose faucet.

When Dad's forehead wrinkles like a last year's apple, it is probably because he is thinking of the price of food.

Sometimes Dad's sober presence is like a musical instrument whose strings steal into your very soul with a song that sound like "Home, Sweet Home."
Never go back on Dad!—Ex

A college graduate applied for work in a lumber camp and was assigned to one end of a cross-cut saw, the other end being in charge of an old and experienced lumberman. At the end of an hour the veteran stopped sawing and regarded his weary partner with pitying eyes.

"Sonny," he said, "I don't mind your riding on this saw, but if it's just the same to you, I wish you'd quit scraping your feet on the ground."

THE ENVIOUS

Have you ever thought how vicious and insidious is hate? Have you ever realized that here is a poison so deadly that those who bear it suffer more potentially than those on whom it is vented?

Perhaps you call this destroying element a grudge and do not classify the symptoms it generates with the affliction that hate inflicts.

Well, grudge or hate, as you will, feelings of bitterness and resentment, of scorn and contempt, are excess baggage that you cannot afford to carry along.

It is no more difficult to forget than it is to forgive, and you should do both if you want to get anywhere and be happy in the going.

To forgive and forget is not nearly so charitable and high-minded an action as it is an evidence of good common sense.
