MUSKOKA NAME DERIVED FROM OLD INDIAN CHIEF

People who carelessly refer to Muskoka as "Muskeokee" and "Musko-ke," and so on, are not so far out as may appear. In a recent address at Bracebridge Dr. J. B. McDougall, assistant chief inspector of schools for Ontario, told of the romance in the origin of Muskoka district. He said that following the battle of the Plains of Abraham, the loyal British settlers felt it their duty to expand and consolidate British territory in Canada. To this end, they approached the chief of the Chippewas, who occupied that portion of Canada between Severn Bridge and North Bay, entreating him to honor his evidence of loyalty to the British by transferring this territory. He responded and the treaty was arranged for this area of "rock and lake," on condition that it might still be used as a "happy hunting ground" by the Chippewas.

The chief's name was signed as "Misquiquek," or in modernized form "Mesquaquee" and from this came the name of the district "Muskoka."

NORTH LAND WOMAN HAS GOOD WORDS FOR THE GOAT

Kruger's Lady Says Popular Idea of the Goat is Away Out.

Some weeks ago The Advance published an article showing that at least one Northern Ontario man was successful in establishing a profitable and helpful goat farm. This man was a Brower farmer, but evidently there are others beside him. In The New Liskeard Speaker last week the following article appeared and it should be of more than passing interest:

"The old idea that goats are most useful for disposing of the old tins and such rubbish, and among other wickednesses, prone to rob the wash line, especially the good man's best red flannel shirt, according to Mrs. Anderson, of Kruger's, is out-of-date. Now the goat is a domesticated animal with a place of its own in the family life with, possibly, interest and ability to discuss the family affairs. Anyway, see what Mrs. Anderson says in a letter sent us.

"So much has been written lately in various papers about the goat and its milk, the latter being said by the highest and best informed medical authorities to contain properties which suit the most delicate digestive organs, give health and growth to the infant deprived of its natural food, and hope to the tubercular, that I make no apology in asking you if you will kindly make it public that goats are not given away with a pound of tea, nor are they to be bought for ten cents (as some years ago baby chicks were sold in New York at Easter) to be a plaything for the child of the house.

"I have kept these useful and economical little animals for some years now, and during this time have been besieged with inquiries as to prices, quality, present and past history of goats, etc., but when I have written asking $20, $25 for a goat giving from one quart of milk per day upward, I have never received a reply, though in nearly every case the inquirer had a sick child to whom the milk was necessary, or they had paid a large sum to doctors, etc., etc. From the fact that I have never received a reply, and to the tone of inquiries made personally, I have come to the conclusion that the price was not only considered to be excessive, but even ridiculously so, for so small an animal.

"I paid $47 for my first grade doe, with a two months' old kid at side, and I was fortunate enough to buy my buck at a disposal sale at a very reasonable price, considering that his sire had been brought from California at a cost of $150. So that when I advertised doe and buck kids at $7.50 and $5.00 respectively, I had no idea that I was asking what was considered in this district to be a price beyond all reason. My goats may be seen by the motorist passing, and much wonder has been expressed at seeing them grazing quietly like cows, and also that they did not climb the house, also that the tin cans still remained in the hole dug for them, and that the bottles (left by our predecessors, as we are prohibitionists) still remain here, for other uses if necessary.

"The goat, like all other farm animals, can be spoiled by ignorant handling, but the ordinary care given to a cow on pasture in the summer and in the stable in winter gives greater results according to the outlay, for hay, roots, etc., necessary for its upkeep.

"I have heard some extraordinary tales of goats, told me quite seriously and I do not suggest that you do as one owner of a goat (not mileh) told me the other day he did, allow it to join the family circle around the fire-side in the evening, and I have no doubt, though he did not say so, that it joined in any political discussion that came up.

"This is not in any way an advertisement, as I have no goats for sale, I find them too valuable for myself."

The Englehart Curling Club has organized for the coming season, with Mr. N. S. Ireland, as president.

ALL BICYCLISTS SHOULD BE FORCED TO CARRY LIGHTS

Many people in this town and district have felt for some time that unless something changes there is going to be a serious accident or series of accidents in regard to the riders of bicycles. Although, so far, the luck of Timmins has held without a fatality occurring, many drivers of automobiles have gathered gray hairs through the antics of the cyclists. The walking public have had their nerves frazzled through the common trick of the cyclists in using the side-walks for a wheel-way. It appears that stringent regulations are necessary to protect the public and cyclists themselves. For months now, and with good reason, motorists and others have been prophesying that "some of these lads on bicycles are going to be killed," with their tricks of shooting in front of cars, running without lights, and so on.

The difficulty is not confined to Timmins. The Haileyburian last week had occasion to deal with the same question of the danger to and from bicyclists without lights at night. The Haileyburian says:—

"One Haileybury motorist claims that there should be a by-law passed by the municipality which would make it unlawful for cyclists to ride at night without carrying lights. He says it is very dangerous, especially when rounding a bend, to meet up suddenly with a boy on a bicycle, and that it is a miracle that there have not been serious accidents from this cause. This motorist claims that on a recent evening, in coming home from Cobalt, he met five different boys on bicycles and none of them had a light.

"If there is not already a by-law governing this practice, he said, it would appear that there should be one passed before anything serious happens. If it is not unlawful to ride a bicycle at night without lights, the practice will continue until there is a serious accident and perhaps loss of life. This is a matter that might well be taken up by the various municipalities."

At the Judge's court of revision on the Sudbury voters' lists, 95 out of 97 appeals were granted. One of the two disallowed was that of a man dying since the appeal was entered.

MRS. MOFFAT OPENS NEW HOTEL IN ROUYN CAMP

An item of special interest in The Copper-Gold Era the newspaper of the Rouyn Camp, is the following from the second issue of the new little paper:—

"Mrs. Moffat who is well known and highly respected amongst the old-timers, many of whom she has nursed through sickness while she had charge of her hospital at Timmins, is opening up a hotel, opposite the Roman Catholic church, to be called the "Moffat House."

HOPING TO SPEED UP THE COMPLETION OF HIGHWAY

The Haileyburian last week says: "The movement by the Boards of Trade and the Municipalities of the North, whereby it is hoped to speed up the construction of the trunk road next summer to the extent that it will be finished by the end of June instead of the end of August, is one that all residents of the North Country will get behind in the effort to make it a success. It is felt that the Districts of Temiskaming and Cochrane, who have waited so long for this highway, should be given the advantage of the extra business that is sure to come through the opening of the road, for a longer period next year than that proposed by the government when they stated that the road would be completed by the end of August. Whether enough pressure can be brought to bear to accomplish this end remains to be seen, but apparently a strong effort is to be made. Considering the narrowing of the gap which divides the districts from the older part of the province, it should be possible, with the amount of work that can still be done this fall. If the road can be opened early in the summer it will be the occasion of great rejoicing over the fulfillment of a long cherished dream."

BARRY-HOLLINGER'S NEW FIND KEEPS LOOKING GOOD

Last week The Advance made reference to a noteworthy find of spectacular ore at the Barry-Hollinger. The Advance referred to the fact that if the ore body continued in richness, it would mean a remarkable addition to the mine's ore reserves. That is just what the ore seems to be doing. A report made by Mr. L. B. Smith, mine manager, to the president, Mr. H. C. Crow last week reads in part as follows:—"This stope has lengthened to a distance of 100 feet at this time. The values are still good in both faces. The west face is 9 feet wide, and will be sampled in sections as soon as possible. We continue to find spots of spectacular richness and the stope continues to give promise of increasing in length. Samples were taken personally at 20-foot intervals and I am forwarding herewith the results over full stopping widths:—plus 20 ft., $25.60; plus 40 ft., $40.00; plus 60 ft., $12.80; plus 80 ft., $68.00; plus 100 ft., $16.00."

Can You Find the Twins?

No, they are not all twins! Two and only two are identical, and are the twins you are asked to find. Can you? To be sure, the 18 pictures all look alike; but look closer. How about their hats? There are other differences, too. Read the clues. Only two girls are exact duplicates. They are Twins—can you find them?

-----CLUES-----

At first glance all of the pictures look alike. But upon examination you will see that almost every one differs in some way from all the others. In some the difference may be in the light or dark band on the brim of the hat or in the brimming on the hat or the collar. Or, some may wear necklaces, or ear-rings, or both. Only two are exactly alike. No, it's not as easy as it looks. You must search carefully.

Just look closely—make sure that you have the twins, then send in your answer. Somebody who finds the right twins is going to win a big prize: Make that "somebody" be YOU.
