SQUARE DEALING TO ALL NECESSARY TO SUCCESS

Speakers at Kiwanis Club Luncheon Show That Good Business Ethics are Essential To-day

At the Kiwanis Club luncheon on Monday the topic for the day was "Business Ethics." Mr. Dayton Ostrosser occupied the chair, and in an able address showed the absolute necessity for the highest code of ethics in business to assure success. He showed that in advertising and salesmanship alike truth and courtesy should be given first place. Mr. C. G. Keddie, manager of the Hollinger Stores, spoke on the same topic. "It is a generally recognized fact that the business man of to-day who deliberately fails to live up to the basic principle of the golden rule is sooner or later doomed to failure," said Mr. Keddie. He pointed out that some followed a high code of business ethics for religious reasons, but that even from the business standpoint high standards were essential for success. Not only was it necessary to give customers a square deal, but it was equally important that it was actually profitable to play fair also with wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers and any others coming in the business circles. Business education and better understanding between the various branches of business, Mr. Keddie showed, were big needs of to-day. Knowledge of business methods and rules was necessary for success and would remove many misunderstandings and wrong viewpoints. Mr. Keddie referred to the mail order houses and the chain stores, and touched on the effect these are having on general business. He pointed out that there were lines that could be handled best through direct connection between manufacturer and retailer, while in other cases the wholesaler was necessary. It was here that business knowledge and intensive study of conditions profited the merchant. "I maintain," concluded Mr. Keddie, "that closer co-operation between the retailer, wholesaler and manufacturer, coupled with franker discussion of, and more intimate knowledge of, each other's problems will result in a readjustment of merchandizing methods that will bring about lasting and material benefit to all concerned, including the poor old ultimate consumer who is usually the last to be considered."

A new member, Mr. Jack Walker, was welcomed to the Club during the luncheon.

Saturday evening, Feb. 19th, will be Bachelors' Night at the Cornish Social Club meeting in the Hollinger hall. Specially interesting items will be on the programme prepared by the young men, including a nail-driving competition for the ladies.

The combined Haileybury and Cobalt choral societies recently presented "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," the musical setting of the famous poem by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Reports from some who were privileged to hear the event are to the effect that the work of the combined choirs was brilliant and most creditable to the musical talent of the two towns as well as to the skill of Mr. R. H. Unwin, the conductor. The greatest encouragement should be given to enterprises of this kind. There were seventy voices in the chorus, with a number of soloists specially worthy of mention.

H. S. Board Asking Government to Build Technical School

In View of High Cost of Education Here and Other Conditions, Government Asked to Meet Cost of Proposed New School. Over 120 Express Intention of Entering Technical Classes.

As noted in The Advance some months ago the Advisory Vocational Committee and the High School Board have been considering the establishment of a Technical School in affiliation with the Timmins High School. A survey of the situation has been carefully made and it has been found that over 120 have signed their desire to attend the Technical School should such a school be established here. Last week the Advisory Vocational Committee made its formal report on the conclusions reached after the survey.

At a meeting of the Committee, it was moved by Mr. V. H. Emery, seconded by D. Ostrosser, that the following resolution be forwarded to the Deputy Minister of Education:—That in view of the fact that a canvass of the schools has been made in the town of Timmins showing over one hundred and twenty pupils ready to enter a Technical School, this committee wishes to go on record as recommending the establishment of such a school, consisting of, at least twelve rooms, and that in view of the excessive school taxation, and as Timmins serves as an educational centre for outlying districts, the committee would request the Education Department of the Province to erect and equip a school of this type and to defray all costs in connection with same, which the committee considers reasonable in view of the particular conditions to be met with in this district.—Carried.

At the meeting of the High School

Board on Tuesday evening of this week, on motion of Messrs D. Ostrosser and Geo. Lake, the Board went on record as endorsing the resolution of the Advisory Industrial Committee which was forwarded to the Deputy Minister of Education re the erection and equipping of a Technical School on the High School premises.

The plan suggested by the Government was that the Government defray seventy-five per cent. of the cost of the proposed new Technical School, and the High School Board finance the other twenty-five per cent. In view of the heavy taxation here for school purposes the Advisory Committee believes the Government might do better than this.

To accommodate the increase in pupils for the High School it will be necessary this year to build an addition. It was thought that if this additional accommodation could be provided for in connection with the necessary building for the Technical Classes, it would be an economy and advantage.

The Technical School has been proven at Haileybury, Sudbury and other centres to be a very valuable addition to the High School services. It means that pupils can remain here for part of their university courses in certain branches. The subjects proposed to be taken up at the Technical School include:—Draughting, milling, assaying; home-making courses for girls; commercial courses for boys and girls; draughting and machine work or woodwork.

INTERESTING PROGRAMME ST. MATTHEW'S SOCIAL CLUB

The St. Matthew's Social Club held a very enjoyable social in the church hall on Tuesday evening. The event was largely attended. A good programme of dances and games had been arranged by the entertainment committee composed of Mrs. Cretney, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Fairbrother, Mrs. Arnold, Mr. Groves and Mr. Jones. Two numbers on the programme—the potato race and feeding contest—were particular hits, keeping the members in laughter the whole time. Mrs. Hawse and Mr. Forrester carried off the prizes. Mrs. Webb rendered a pleasing solo during the evening and this number was much appreciated. Mrs. Arnold and Miss Moses kindly rendered music for the dances, as did Mrs. Fairbrother. A very nice programme was served at 11 p.m. by the refreshment committee composed of Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Groves, Mrs. Hawse and Miss Moses. The president, Mr. Forrester, in a few words thanked both committees for the success of the evening and announced that the next social would be
