FLOW OF POPULATION IS NOW TO THE NORTH LAND

More Newcomers in North in a Year Than Settle in the West in Five Years.

The Sineco Reformer is one of the papers of Southern Ontario that consistently pays special attention to the North Land. The Reformer always takes a keen and intelligent part in any discussion or consideration of the North Land and so there will be more than passing interest in the following editorial from the last issue of The Reformer:

"Ontario is experiencing a new sensation—the sensation of having north of her for hundreds of miles a vast country that is growing rapidly in wealth and population—a country that speaks of Old Ontario as 'The South.' Ontario is losing the feeling that she is merely a belt of inhabited territory along the American border. She is losing the false conception of the North that pictured it as a cold frozen region that inspired dread. Within very recent times this false conception has been exploded and the dread has gone. Ontario is feeling more elbow room. Inspiring conceptions of the possibilities of her vast territory are dawning.

"Mr. Cyril T. Young, who has just been made fellow of the Royal Geographical Society because of his new book, 'Mineral Resources,' in an address to the Gyro Club of Toronto recently said: 'When Canadians realize the almost untold wealth of our North Country, the young men will be trekking up there in thousands instead of looking elsewhere for their future prospects.'

"More newcomers were now coming into the North Country in one year, he said, than had settled in any western province in the past five years.

"And as to its being a cold frozen country it must be remembered that all our vast North now under development lies in a more southerly latitude than the city of Winnipeg. Canadians have been irritated by assumption of American friends that Canada is a cold frozen country and have protested against the title 'Our Lady of the Snows' being applied to Canada. And yet we in Old Ontario formerly held the same opinion of our North Country and with no better reason for doing so. To those who still hold that view it must have come as a surprise to read that a drilling crew on Lake Osisko, thirty miles from the Transcontinental, had been compelled to remove their drill two weeks ago because the ice on the lake was breaking up.

"Old Ontario was once called Canada West. Then came the rush to the West. 'Go West, young man!' became a popular slogan. The empty prairies filled up; new provinces were organized, and then Ontario experienced the new sensation of being called 'The East,' or, at least, of being looked upon as a part of 'The East.'

"The flow of population has now

To Show Navy League's Work
By Pictures and Address

Meeting at Goldfields Theatre Sunday Evening After the Church Services. Interesting Motion Pictures to be Shown. Address by Commander Graves on Navy League. All Invited.

A meeting is called for the Goldfields theatre on Sunday evening, April 3rd, after the church services on Sunday, under the auspices of the Navy League of Canada, Timmins branch.

A chief item of interest will be the motion pictures to be shown. These will include very interesting and educational films of much excellence. The titles of the various pictures are as follows:—'Building Ships,' 'En Voyage,' 'Ice Breaking,' 'Sea Cadets in Training.' There will also be a slide showing the British Navy together with an address by Commander S. B. Graves, R.D., R.N.R.

Dr. J. A. McInnis, vice-president of the Navy League of Ontario, will occupy the chair.

Those who remember the address last year by Commander Graves will be sure to be present Sunday evening, for he has the happy faculty of presenting a very interesting and important subject in very attractive way. During the war, Commander Graves was in command of one of the British destroyers in the North Sea and the English channel. Previous to that arduous service he had a long and useful service on the sea, and on matters in connection with the merchant marine—the branch that the Navy League is specially interested in—he has a very comprehensive grasp indeed. Commander Graves makes clear the vital importance of the merchant marine to the Empire and to Canada.

The motion pictures to be shown are all different to those given last year.

These are new films of even greater interest than those that roused so much attention in Timmins, a year ago. They illustrate the British Navy and its work, including submarines, destroyers, mine sweepers and hospital ships. The pictures show the cadets in training, and depict what the service is doing for the boys and what the boys are doing for the service. The building of ships is also portrayed in effective way, and suggestion made of the network of lakes and canals spreading right across Canada.

In his address, which fully supports and explains the pictures, Commander Graves tells of the work which the Navy League is carrying on throughout Canada. He describes the large buildings for sailors maintained as homes and hospitals in the various parts of the Dominion. He gives facts relative to the help given the widows and other dependents of sailors of the merchant marine. During the war nearly 17,000 Canadian merchant marine sailors gave their lives as sacrifice to the great cause in which the Empire fought, and the dependents of these brave men are not entitled to any Government pension or relief. It is these that the Navy League are caring for, as well as carrying on training for boys and help to the sailors of the merchant service.

Sunday evening a silver collection will be taken up in aid of the widows and orphans of merchant marine sailors.

A DELIGHTFUL COSTUME IS DONE IN NAVY AND BUTTERCUP YELLOW

French flannel in navy and a brilliant buttercup yellow that reminds us of the first days of Spring is responsible for the effectiveness of the frock and coat shown here.

The dress is a one-piece belted affair of yellow flannel. The navy coat worn over it is as simply made as the dress, and lined with the yellow which ends in a fringed border around the edges.

Yellow felt makes the small turned-down hat, while the gros-grain band is in two shades of blue.

VERY PALE BLUE CASHMERE MAKES THIS EXTREMELY SMART FROCK.

This may be said to be a season of pastels, for never has there been such heavenly tints of blue and green and yellow and lavender.

Above is shown a delightful day frock, which gives the two-piece effect, but is really all of a piece, for convenience. The blouse portion is joined to the pleated skirt.

Pale blue cashmere is the material, while the embroidery is in rings of dark blue done in chain stitch. There is a narrow belt of the fabric, fastening with a metal buckle. Many of the ne wthings, by the way, have belts, including coats and suits as well as frocks.

Thieves broke into Winsor's hardware store at Sudbury last week and stole $5.00 in silver and four safety razors. The miscreants, however, missed $800.00 in bills in the cash box. This is published just to make the villains mad at what they missed.

PONTIAC Six introduced a totally new and revolutionary standard of values when the first Pontiac Six was announced a little over a year ago.

Now, Pontiac Six is increasing its lead—sweeping still further in advance of its field. For, in the New and Finer Pontiac Six, General Motors has achieved a combination of fine, six-cylinder performance, strikingly beautiful appearance and low price unequalled in all the automobile world.

Again Pontiac leads in value—and by a wider margin than ever. Small wonder that the records established by Pontiac's first year sales are already being surpassed by the enthusiastic public reception of the New and Finer Pontiac Six.

Come in and see the car, and the reasons for Pontiac leadership become at once apparent.
