The Haileyburian last week says:—"Mr. Alfred Chesser, who has spent the past three years in Kimberley and Trail, B.C., is in Haileybury for a two weeks' visit with his mother, Mrs. A. H. Chesser, Blackwall Street." Mr. Chesser was a former resident of Timmins, and has many friends here.

SCHUMACHER HAS SOME CHINCHILLA RABBITS

Mr. W. Trollope Has Adopted this Side-Line. Offers to Share His Knowledge With any Interested.

In reference to the article in The Advance last week last week to the effect that the breeding of chinchilla rabbits might prove a profitable side-line in this part of the North Land, Mr. W. Trollope, of Schumacher, says that the plan is practical enough because he has already adopted it with good success. Mr. Trollope has seven chinchilla rabbits that he is raising, and he is confident that he can make a success of the venture. Mr. Trollope is the owner of a wood-working and repair plant in Schumacher, and has found the chinchilla rabbit business a very interesting side-line and one that promises also to be profitable. There appears to be a good market for both the fur and the rabbit meat, and he sees no reason why the breeding and raising of chinchillas can not be carried on successfully. During the time that he has been interested in the chinchillas he has found pleasure in their care and he has learned a lot about them and their ways and the best way to attend to them. Mr. Trollope very kindly volunteered to The Advance to show his chinchilla rabbits to anyone interested if they will call at his house, 4A Railway street, Schumacher, any evening after supper. He is also good enough to say that he is ready to share anything that he may know or have learned about this type of rabbit with anyone who has any idea of taking up the pleasant work of breeding and raising them. Mr. Trollope says that the climate is well suited to the raising of these rabbits and that they thrive well and are little trouble in any way. Their fur is particularly good, the weather of the North Land apparently adding to its richness and lustre.

What Price Vanity

Only those who have experienced the peaceful relief of eye comfort after struggling along for weeks, months and sometimes years, knows the wisdom of proper attention and care of the eyes. Vanity—the fear of a changed appearance—quite often keeps eye sufferers from seeking relief.

This is foolish because rapid strides have been made in optical design, making it now possible to find glasses which will conform to your face. In fact—more often looks are improved by glasses. If your vision is faulty, you should seek an examination at once—and a perfect fitting.

OMAR THE MYSTIC MISSED ONE PIECE OF KNOWLEDGE

Omar, the mystic, who was advertised as "the man who knows everything," and who was reputed to be able to answer any question, evidently missed one piece of useful knowledge, when he engaged to appear at the Goldfields theatre on Monday and Tuesday of this week. He did not know apparently that he was going to be ill on the dates mentioned. As a matter of fact he was ill on Monday and Tuesday and so could not appear for the engagement here. As a result, the people missed what is generally reported as a very entertaining feature, while at the same time it was shown that there are some things in the way of knowledge that even Omar overlooks.

HONESTY SHOULD BE THE POLICY FOR ALL CITIZENS

In commenting on the paragraph in The Advance a couple of weeks ago praising the three boys who saw to it that Miss Poirer's lost money was returned to her, The New Liskeard Speaker last week says:—"When I was a boy carrying a plow coultter from the blacksmith's I picked up a large roll of bank bills. Soon a drover came along looking for the money I had picked up. I gave him his money, and have never had any sympathy for the thieves and robbers since." Another young man said: "When I was a boy walking along the country road from school I picked up a five dollar bank bill, and was joyful. I ran home and showed my find to my mother. Instead of my mother looking pleased as I had expected, she looked very sorrowful and said, 'I am so sorry. It may be that some poor people lost this money.' We soon found the owner and returned the money." Since then I never regarded anything valuable which I have found as belonging to me." Parents who fail to teach their children to be honest and to fulfill as nearly as it is humanly possible, the spirit of the Golden Rule, should share the child's disgrace if such child should go wrong."

Showing the Benefits of a Community Hall for Timmins

Correspondent Reviews the Need and Advantage of a Suitable Headquarters for Various Helpful Organizations in Town. Reference to the Debt to the Returned Soldiers and the Duty to the Children.

To the Editor of The Advance. Dear Sir:—It is well known that the editorial influence of The Porcupine Advance is all for the good, and believing that the immediate erection of a Community Hall is an urgent need locally, I trust you will find room in your valuable columns for this thesis in support of the efforts of the various organizations mentioned to obtain suitable headquarters, hoping that some of the influential members of the community may be induced to help in this good work. Paving with promises does not, nor ever will, wipe out the debt this great and growing nation of Canada owes to our own returned men; and it is only too unfortunately true that in times of national peril and stress we (speaking nationally) are prone to promise more freely than at other times, trusting, Micawber-like, to keep some of these promises, if something turns up to enable us to do so. Yet the Canadian Legion remains intensely loyal and patriotic. We yield to none in our love of country, our emphatic upholding of sane and sensible government, and, while being none-political, we admit to membership no "Reds." Our local branch, now growing numerically and financially stronger under the able leadership of Dr. S. R. Harrison, has already been of assistance to several ex-servicemen who were "up against it." And the Legion needs headquarters. But if we owe a debt to the veterans, how much more so do we owe a debt to our children (again speaking from a national view point)? While no one doubts that the very great majority of parents are doing their utmost by and for their children, and that there are very few, if any, parents so preoccupied with their own personal aggrandisement as to forget the duty nature has assigned to them, yet sometimes even the most conscientious parents overlook the danger that lurks in the background for children in their spare time. It is a fundamental truth to state that goodly number of the children of this district are the descendants of a virile and adventurous race of people who may justly lay claim to being pioneers in the making of this North Land. Possessing this proud heritage, plus probably a better education, it is not to be wondered at that sometimes this inherited venturesomeness, this incipient virility, is sometimes difficult to control, especially in spare time, as when away from school or from direct parental control. But, have we not such splendid philanthropic and public-spirited organizations and individuals as the Kiwanis Club, who by their "Open Spaces," "Playing Grounds," "Under-privileged Child," etc., to mention only a part of their work for the undoubted and indisputable good and betterment of this North Land in particular and Canada and the world in general, are doing a splendid service to the children of this district. Co-operating with the Kiwanis in this good work for the children is their subsidiary club, the Kiwanees—or, axiomatically, "the hand that rocks," etc., should I not say the controlling controlling club. Again, there is the excellent efforts of the Sea Cadets to introduce into the lives of our exuberant youths the undeniable advantages of self-control and discipline, supplemented now by that very welcome new-comer to this district, Mr. Austin E. Neame, whose military knowledge and skill in First Aid, as well as his time, is being freely given to the boys in their spare time, so endeavouring to fill up the dangerous gap of spare time. This, be it noted, is in addition to Mr. Neame's work for the Timmins Branch of the Canadian Legion. And both the Sea Cadets and Mr. Austin Neame's classes need headquarters.

Would not the St. John Ambulance Brigade gladly establish themselves in some centrally situated and commodious building where they could store their equipment, establish an office, and do their drill and lectures, besides a member on duty to call up the Brigade in the event of an emergency, or to be in a position to answer any calls upon their service? Yet with all the good works of the above-mentioned there appears to be a lack of co-operation in securing central and sufficiently commodious accommodation for all the organizations, clubs, etc., noted. To my mind the logical and only solution of this problem of providing a headquarters and drill hall suitable for all, is by building a large Community Hall, centrally situated, and so arranged that each society could and would retain its individuality. I am sure that if such headquarters could be secured before winter comes, the Sea Cadets' officials could rely on the members of the Canadian Legion in giving them a helping hand; equally sure am I that the Legion would loyally support Mr. Austin Neame in the conduct of his classes; and the St. John Ambulance Brigade might pick up a valuable recruit or two from the Legion or Sea Cadets. Inter alia, your valuable editorial expression of the wish that the Sea Cadets, the Boy Scouts, and Mr. Neame's classes be amalgamated and so cover the whole ground and attract many of the boys would be appreciably nearer. I am, dear Sir, Your very truly T. F.

"Fate's Playthings"

To live with wife and little ones unprotected by Life Insurance is gambling with their future.
To leave a widow and children unprotected for as a result of such gambling makes them "Playthings of Fate."

The wise, loving and thoughtful husband and father does not take these chances. He takes insurance and is sure. When he selects The London Life he secures this protection at lowest net cost.

For example:—
Suppose you are 35 years of age and secure a London Life Jubilee Policy for $10,000 and take advantage of your right, 5 years later, to change it to a Twenty Payment Life Policy. Your average actual cost for the 20 years—entirely apart from dividends—will be only $2.79 per thousand dollars of insurance per year.

Secure the benefit of the experience and suggestions of The London Life representative. Delay may make you uninsurable.
